B-29S HIT DOORSTEP TO MANCHURIA

Woman Doctor 'Now A Man,' Seeking Title Of Baron And Scottish Castle

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Sept. 13 — Officials who guard the centuries-old protocol of British nobility are puzzling over an unprecedented problem — a woman who says she has legally become a man and thus entitled her to a Scottish baronetcy.

Dr. Elizabeth Forbes-Sempill, a mannish, 40-year-old sister of Baron Sempill, announced Friday in an advertisement in the Aberdeen Press and Journal that "all legal formalities" had been completed for a change in sex.

"In the future," the advertisement said, "she will be known as Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill."

The plump doctor, who years ago discarded dresses for men's suits, may now be in line for the baronetcy held by a 59-year-old brother. With it would go the title of "Sir" and a castle.

Since the present Lord Sempill lacks a male heir his baronetcy will be passed to his nearest male relative upon his death. That would be Dr. Forbes-Sempill if the newly claimed sex status is accepted.

Dr. Forbes-Sempill, the only physician in tiny Alford, Aberdeenshire, got approval from the district sheriff for a change in birth registry.

The London Daily Mirror said the doctor, dressed in a gray suit and wearing hair short, explained in an interview:

"I regard this as a reprieve after 40 years of being mistaken as female, from living a lie, trying to be something that I never was entirely—a woman."

"I underwent a course of medical treatment for several years finally to establish my masculinity. I was not involved in any operation and being a doctor myself, I knew what was going on."

"I have been biologically as well as socially a man for several months, leading a bachelor's life and discarding the last remnants of my tedious upbringing as a girl."

"I have discarded all the relics of those years of torture—makeup, perfume, jewelry and so forth."

The Alford villagers were said to have deep love and respect for their doctor. They recalled Forbes never hesitated in the sternest winter snows to put on skis and go to their bedsides.

"HERE IN ALFORD," Forbes was quoted as saying, "I have found peace because I am accepted as one of the chaps, but in the outside world life was becoming more and more unendurable."

"As far back as I can remember, I felt like a boy and wanted to be with other boys."

The interview told how Forbes had refused to go to a girls' school and was provided with a special tutor. Later, the youth was embarrassed and confused when introduced to London society and sent to a Paris university.

"A change, though gradual, became increasingly apparent as the years went by," Forbes said. "I discarded my frocks years ago."

"I was able to use a shaving outfit and to join with other men in hunting, fishing and shooting."

Presumably the doctor, in claiming a title, will have to submit evidence of manhood to the Standing Council of Baronetage in London, which awards the title upon succession. The final stamp of approval would come from the British home secretary.

160-Ship Allied Fleet Opens Naval War Test Off Norway

GOUROCK, Scotland, Sept. 13 — A powerful fleet of Atlantic Treaty warships slipped out of the River Clyde Saturday for action stations in the North Sea as the curtain went up on "Exercise Mainbrace," a 13-day naval war games with 160 ships of eight nations participating.

American and British aircraft swept out over Scottish coastal waters in the path of the NATO warships, searching for planes and submarines of the "enemy" Orange force.

The Orange forces are supposed to have invaded North Norway. The Blue commander's task is to provide sea, air and land reinforcements for meeting the invasion and to stage an amphibious landing in Denmark.

The maneuvers will be waged over a sea area of half a million square miles. They will involve 85,000 men, including 40,000 U. S. sailors and Marines. Other nations taking part are Britain, Canada, Belgium, France, Holland, Norway and Denmark.

THE NATO BLUE task force, racing into the North Sea was ordered on the alert shortly after clearing port when an intelligence report warned that an Orange surface raider may be athwart its course.

Nine tankers and 14 other ships, representing the supply train for the warships engaged in the operation, left here Friday. Included in the squadron were Britain's light aircraft carrier Triumph, six British and American destroyers, four American destroyer escorts and three British frigates.

Mainbrace is the kingpin in about 40 Allied maneuvers, mostly local ground operations, to be staged before the end of 1952.

Mainbrace itself will be directed by Britain's Adm. Sir Patrick Brind, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Northern Europe. The senior officer aboard will be U. S. Vice Adm. Felix Stump.

The U. S. contingent in the games includes the 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin; two 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, the Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Midway; and two smaller carriers, the 27,100-ton Wasp and the 14,500-ton Wright, as well as escort carriers, cruisers, destroyers and smaller vessels.

America's UN Delegation Named

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — President Truman Friday announced appointment of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly opening in New York Oct. 14.

It again will be headed by Warren R. Austin and will include Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) and Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.).

Alternate representatives are Philip C. Jessup, roving ambassador; Benjamin V. Cohen, career diplomat; Charles A. Sprague of Oregon; Edith S. Sampson of Illinois; and Isador Lubin of New York. Ernest A. Gross will be deputy under Austin.

27 Counties Open To Deer Hunters

COLUMBUS, Sept. 13 — Deer hunting will be allowed in only 27 counties this year instead of the 44 originally announced.

The Ohio Wildlife Council said Friday it reduced the number of counties because of reports of a small deer population.

The season is Dec. 11-13. In Carroll County only bow and arrow hunters will be permitted. In the other 26 counties hunters will be limited to shotguns with rifled slugs. The 27 counties are Hocking, Carroll, Knox, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Jefferson, Licking, Coshocton, Harrison, Guernsey, Belmont, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Monroe, Athens, Vinton, Washington, Meigs, Jackson, Pike, Gallia, Scioto, Lawrence and Adams.

General Telephone Hearing Recessed

COLUMBUS, Sept. 13 — The hearing on the application of the General Telephone Co. for a $1,300,000 annual rate increase will resume Sept. 24 before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The hearing was recessed Friday after a full week of testimony by company witnesses to support the rate increase. The company, Ohio's largest independent, says the money is needed to help finance a $10½ million expansion.

Salesman Given Rare Opportunity

CORISCANA, Tex., Sept. 13 — Herman G. Shaw, Houston resuscitator salesman, had a made-to-order chance. He stopped in at a fire station here.

As he walked in one door, firemen walked in another carrying Chester Vise, a fireman overcome by heat and smoke.

Shaw set up his sample resuscitator and revived Vise.

City Water Cutoff Due

Circleville's water supply is expected to be shut off at 10 p. m. Saturday.

The water cutoff will be made to permit installation of new valves into the city's water main at the Scioto River, northwest of the city, where work has been completed in laying a new 12-inch main under the river.

Ervin Leist, city water manager, said the water is expected to be off several hours. In a similar operation here last week, while two other valves were installed, the water remained off about four hours.

City housewives have been advised by the manager to delay their washings until about the middle of next week since the Saturday night cutoff probably will cause discoloration of the water.

Europe Allies Have 2 Million Men In Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — The State Department reported Saturday this country's European Allies now have more than two million men under arms compared with Russia's four million.

The figures were cited in a 50-page departmental report designed to answer inquiries from Congress and private citizens about progress made in building Europe's defenses under the 3-year-old North Atlantic Treaty.

Although indicating a relationship in the balance of East-West military power, the figures do not include other forces which fit into the overall picture.

Not mentioned is the total American strength of 3½ million men under arms, the armed manpower of friendly nations like Australia, Yugoslavia and Spain, or the armies of Russia's satellites and Red China.

The report also referred to Russian possession of the atomic bomb as a major element in Soviet power—a reference reflecting conviction here that Russia has such a bomb, although not in quantities equal to America's.

She Made $5 Slapping Flies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 13 — Doris Lott slapped flies and made $5.

It happened while she visited her parents in Cameron, Tex. They went to a cattle auction where flies were thick.

Doris started slapping at them. The auctioneer took each slap to mean a bid on a calf.

Finally the calf was led over to Doris who was informed her bid was $35. When he learned she didn't want the calf the auctioneer sold it for her for $40 and Doris got the $5 difference.

Sanitarian Quits

GREENFIELD, Sept. 13 — Carl Canfield, Highland County's first sanitarian, has resigned effective Oct. 1 to accept a similar post with the Greene County Health Department in Xenia.

Adlai Says He Will Battle 'Mercilessly' Against Reds

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 13 — Adlai Stevenson finished his first campaign drive through the West with a sharp warning to American Communists, and another withering blast at his Republican foes.

The Democratic presidential candidate pledged that if he is elected federal agencies will deal sternly and mercilessly with all who would betray their country.

In the same speech, delivered Friday night in Albuquerque, Stevenson ripped into the Republicans on several different counts.

Ever since he began this Western sweep, he has been insisting that the GOP is badly split between the followers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the GOP nominee. The New York conference between Taft and Eisenhower Friday gave Stevenson another opportunity to taunt his opposition.

"IT LOOKS AS though Sen. Taft lost the nomination but won the prize," he said.

He spoke with a straight face, and in tones as dry as the Western deserts. The crowd of 5,200 people, in a 5,000-seat high school auditorium, howled with laughter.

Stevenson added, "The elephants put their two heads together for a peace treaty—they must have eaten crow."

He coupled his discussion of Communism in America with some scathing comments about Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

"There are men among us," he said, "whose hope is to profit from anxiety, hysteria and fear—to confuse, to blind, to obscure the issues for the American people."

He called them "these salesmen of confusion."

The governor said that in his view the FBI is doing an excellent job hunting down the Reds. "To tell you—or to imply as some do

Miners' Policy Panel To Meet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — Policy-makers of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers meet here Monday in the shadow of a possible coal strike one week later.

Lewis is now negotiating new contracts with both soft and hard coal producers. The UMW has about 320,000 members working in soft coal mines, 65,000 in the hard coal industry. The UMW's 200-member Policy Committee's meeting usually are held to review negotiations and prepare for the strike threat often used to win contract concessions from the industry.

Doctor Fined In Dope Case

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13 — Dr. William Quinn, 79, of Portsmouth, coroner of Scioto County, was fined $2,000 Friday and given a one-year suspended sentence for failure to keep records of narcotics dispensed by him as a private physician.

Meanwhile, Dr. Frederick S. Skeen, 39, of Batavia, Clermont County coroner, is awaiting grand jury action on a charge of obtaining narcotics for his own use. Skeen pleaded innocent. Bond was fixed at $500.

In The Fall, Man's Fancy Also Turns

PORTAGE, Wis., Sept. 13 — Autumnal note from Wisconsin: Two motorists involved in a minor collision Friday explained to authorities they'd been admiring a flight of ducks winging across the highway instead of keeping an eye on the road.

Asia's Biggest Power Plant Is Hammered

350 Tons Of Bombs Dropped Within 3,000 Feet Of 'Sanctuary'

SEOUL, Sept. 13 — U. S. B-29 Superfortresses Friday night and early Saturday hammered the Communists' partly repaired Suho power plant—largest in Asia—in the first of two Allied air blows at the doorstep of Manchuria and Russian Siberia.

At dawn, planes from the U. S. Navy carriers Bon Homme Richard and Princeton struck a troop concentration center at Hoeryong, 1½ miles from Manchuria and 41 miles west of Siberia.

More than 35 Superforts from Okinawa and Japan droned through Red flak for more than 2½ hours over Suho, only 3,000 feet south of Communist Manchuria. It was the northernmost penetration of the Korean war by the giant bombers.

They hurled 350 tons of explosives on installations undergoing repair from the massive Allied fighter-bomber raid in June on Suho. Suho's generators once supplied power to all North Korea and to many Chinese Communist industries in Manchuria.

RECONNAISSANCE reports of moved transformers and new transmission lines, the Air Force said, indicated "the onetime fourth largest power plant of the world was again ripening as a target."

One of the three B29 wings carried 2,000-pound armor-piercing bombs intended to knock out Suho's heavy machinery for keeps. The B29 raid was even heavier than the June raid, an Air Force spokesman said.

The Navy said eight barracks buildings were destroyed and 23 damaged at Hoeryong, where reconnaissance pilots earlier this week had spotted baggage of incoming troops.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its pilots shot down 14 Communist Mig jets without losing a single Sabrejet in the week ended Friday. But the Mig shot down three slower F84 Thunderjets. One F80 Shooting Star was lost to Red ground fire.

On the central front, South Korean soldiers and UN artillery Saturday shot up three attacks by several hundred Chinese at Allied-held Capitol Hill.

Just to the west, Republic of Korea troops ran into firm opposition when they tried to recapture Fing Ridge from the Chinese.

Green Urges AFL Vote For 'Friends'

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 — President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has urged his eight million AFL members to get out "the maximum vote for the friends of labor in November, 1952."

"Then and only then," he says, "will we get the kind of change we need in this country, a change away from the Taft-Hartley mentality which has dominated our national Congress."

However, he did not identify the "friends of labor."

Air War Score: U.S. 14, Reds 0

SEOUL, Sept. 13 — U. S. Sabrejets destroyed at least 14 Communist Mig last week without the loss of a single Sabre, the Air Force announced Saturday.

A spokesman said the Mig did manage to break through the protective screen of Sabres and shoot down three slower F84 Thunderjets. One F80 Shooting Star was lost to Red ground fire to bring the week's plane losses to four. The weekly scorecard showed 14 Migs destroyed, one probably destroyed and 23 damaged.

Carelessness Bares Murder

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — A careless handyman uncovered a murder here Friday.

He dropped a trunk, cracking putty which had been used to seal it shut. Noticing an odd smell, he notified his employer, who ordered the trunk opened.

Inside was the body of a man which police said had been sealed in the trunk for three months. The body was identified as that of Frank S. Moore, about 70, a pensioner.

Solon Urging Active Dewey Role, But Ikemen Said Cool

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 — A New York congressman moved Saturday to push Gov. Thomas E. Dewey into an active part in the Republican presidential campaign after Sen. Robert A. Taft's spectacular enlistment in the fold.

Rep. Leonard W. Hall was leading a drive to expand Dewey's influence beyond the win-New York role which previously had been assigned to the 1944 and 1948 GOP presidential nominees.

"If the governor will consent to a more active role in the campaign, I am sure that his help will be welcomed," Hall said.

However, representatives of Dwight D. Eisenhower, who were influential in arranging the conference from which Taft emerged to announce he would give all-out aid to the Republican nominee, were noticeably cool to Hall's suggestion.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Ralph Cake, Oregon national committeeman, said they hadn't heard any report that Dewey—as well as Taft—might undertake a national broadcast for the ticket.

SINCE THE JULY Chicago convention, where he helped Eisenhower win the nomination from Taft, Dewey has been cast in the role of the Republican Party's forgotten man.

He has remained in the background, apparently because of charges by the Taft forces that he engineered Eisenhower's nomination and was dominating his campaign. Taft leaders such as Thomas E. Coleman of Wisconsin said they counted in the pre-convention campaign on what they called an anti-Dewey sentiment among Republicans of the Midwest.

If Dewey were asked to take a more important role in the campaign than he thus far has assumed publicly, it was the consensus at Eisenhower headquarters here that he would be asked to appeal primarily to the voters in the Eastern Seaboard states.

That Eisenhower's backers regard the election results as touch-and-go was demonstrated when Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire told the Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon meeting in a two-day session here that without their help "all might be lost."

Adams, who has been described by Eisenhower as his "personal boss" on campaign strategy, predicted in a speech before the group that independents would decide the election. Eisenhower scheduled a closed session appearance before the group Saturday. He planned to spend the remainder of the day in drafting speeches for a Midwestern whistle stop tour on which he will depart Sunday.

4 Taftmen Lose Top GOP Positions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — Four backers of Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft have been dropped from the Republican Party's 15-member National Executive Committee.

Arthur Summerfield, new chairman of the GOP National Committee who supported Dwight Eisenhower's successful duel with Taft for the Republican presidential nomination, made the announcement.

One of the four, Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, denied there had been a "purge." Another, Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia, was named a vice chairman of the National Committee. The other two not on the new executive committee are Ralph F. Gates of Indiana and G. Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania.

Ohio Pen Inmate Kills Convict

COLUMBUS, Sept. 13 — A 30-year-old Ohio Penitentiary inmate was beaten to death Friday by another convict within the prison.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis identified the victim as Odell Hicks, sentenced to the penitentiary in June, 1946, from Montgomery County for rape and unarmed robbery.

Alvis said Hicks was struck by Peter Cabral, 28, of Cleveland, who is serving one to 20 years for cutting with intent to kill. Nature of the argument was not reported.

Solon Urging Active Dewey Role, But Ikemen Said Cool

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A New York congressman moved Saturday to push Gov. Thomas E. Dewey into an active part in the Republican presidential campaign after Sen. Robert A. Taft's spectacular enlistment in the fold.

Rep. Leonard W. Hall was leading a drive to expand Dewey's influence beyond the win-New York role which previously had been assigned to the 1944 and 1948 GOP presidential nominee.

"If the governor will consent to a more active role in the campaign, I am sure that his help will be welcomed," Hall said.

However, representatives of Dwight D. Eisenhower, who were influential in arranging the conference from which Taft emerged to announce he would give all-out aid to the Republican nominee, were noticeably cool to Hall's suggestion.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Ralph C. Ike, Oregon national committeeman, said they hadn't heard any report that Dewey—as well as Taft—might undertake a national broadcast for the ticket.

SINCE THE JULY Chicago convention, where he helped Eisenhower win the nomination from Taft, Dewey has been cast in the role of the Republican Party's forgotten man.

Lausche Shuns Special Call Of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Sept. 13.—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has declined to call a special session of the Ohio Legislature to cut the sales tax because such a call shortly before an election "could only be construed as a political maneuver."

The governor turned down the request of State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a not-too-friendly member of Lausche's own party.

The Democratic state auditor, who is campaigning for reelection, told the governor Ohio's three per cent sales tax can be reduced because a recent order for all counties to equalize real estate taxes will produce more revenue. Lausche replied this isn't necessarily so.

Lausche said increased valuations of property do not mean tax increases except for mandatory levies such as police and fire pension funds, state bonus bond retirements, soldiers' relief and aid to dependent children. He contended counties can reduce their tax rates to get only the amount of money actually needed to run local governments.

Lausche also indicated Friday he doesn't need the help of his Republican opponent in handling problems arising from the atomic energy plant to be built in Pike County.

The offer came from Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, who based it on his wartime experience in helping the federal government deal with social problems at war production installations.

Lausche replied that he has called local, state and federal officials to meet Sept. 30 to discuss such situations. He expressed belief those officials and representatives of civic agencies "will be able to evolve a workable program."

"In the meantime, your offer will be kept in mind," the governor added.

Truman Slated For 15-Day Campaign Trip

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—President Truman has the Democratic National Committee's blessing for an 8,500-mile, 15-day "give-em-hell" campaign carrying him into 24 states.

His job is to be a sort of chief pot-shooter in the presidential battle. He will champion his own and the Franklin D. Roosevelt record and fire away at the Republicans from coast to coast, while Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson charts the party program for the future.

The President's campaign train, between the time of his departure from Washington at 10:30 p. m., Saturday, Sept. 27, until his return Sunday, Oct. 12, will cross enough states to assure a minimum of 50 rear platform talks.

Already tentatively lined up are six major talks. They are: Oct. 1, dedicating the Hungry Horse Dam in Northwestern Montana near Kalispell; Oct. 2, Seattle, Wash.; Oct. 4, San Francisco; Oct. 8, Shenandoah, Iowa; Oct. 9, Buffalo, N. Y.; and Oct. 11, New York City.

There seemed every prospect Truman would talk at any daylight stop where a crowd gathered except on the Sundays he will be on the road. He says he will not make political speeches on the Sabbath.

City Water Cutoff Due

Circleville's water supply is expected to be shut off at 10 p. m. Saturday.

The water cutoff will be made to permit installation of new valves into the city's water main at the Scioto River, northwest of the city, where work has been completed in laying a new 12-inch main under the river.

Ervin Leist, city water manager, said the water is expected to be off several hours. In a similar operation here last week, while two other valves were installed, the water remained off about four hours.

City housewives have been advised by the manager to delay their washings until about the middle of next week since the Saturday night cutoff probably will cause discoloration of the water.

Europe Allies Have 2 Million Men In Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The State Department reported Saturday this country's European Allies now have more than two million men under arms compared with Russia's four million.

The figures were cited in a 50-page departmental report designed to answer inquiries from Congress and private citizens about progress made in building Europe's defenses under the 3-year-old North Atlantic Treaty.

Although indicating a relationship in the balance of East-West military power, the figures do not include other forces which fit into the overall picture.

Not mentioned is the total American strength of 3½ million men under arms, the armed manpower of friendly nations like Australia, Yugoslavia and Spain, or the armies of Russia's satellites and Red China.

The report also referred to Russian possession of the atomic bomb as a major element in Soviet power—a reference reflecting conviction here that Russia has such a bomb, although not in quantities equal to America's.

She Made $5 Slapping Flies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 13.—Doris Lott slapped flies and made $5.

It happened while she visited her parents in Cameron, Tex. They went to a cattle auction where flies were thick.

Doris started slapping at them. The auctioneer took each slap to mean a bid on a calf.

Finally the calf was led over to Doris who was informed her bid was $35. When he learned she didn't want the calf the auctioneer sold it for her for $40 and Doris got the $5 difference.

Sanitarian Quits

GREENFIELD, Sept. 13.—Carl Canfield, Highland County's first sanitarium, has resigned effective Oct. 1 to accept a similar post with the Greene County Health Department in Xenia.

Adlai Says He Will Battle 'Mercilessly' Against Reds

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 13.—Adlai Stevenson finished his first campaign drive through the West with a sharp warning to American Communists, and another withering blast at his Republican foes.

The Democratic presidential candidate pledged that if he is elected federal agencies will deal sternly and mercilessly with all who would betray their country.

In the same speech, delivered Friday night in Albuquerque, Stevenson ripped into the Republicans on several different counts.

Ever since he began this Western sweep, he has been insisting that the GOP is badly split between the followers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the GOP nominee. The New York conference between Taft and Eisenhower Friday gave Stevenson another opportunity to taunt his opposition.

"IT LOOKS AS though Sen. Taft lost the nomination but won the nominee," he said.

He spoke with a straight face, and in tones as dry as the Western deserts. The crowd of 5,200 people, in a 5,000-seat high school auditorium, howled with laughter.

Stevenson added, "The elephants put their two heads together for a peace treaty—they must have eaten crow."

He coupled his discussion of Communism in America with some searing comments about Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

"There are men among us," he said, "whose hope it is to profit from anxiety, hysteria and fear—to confuse, to blind, to obscure the issues for the American people."

He called them "these salesmen of confusion."

The governor said that in his view the FBI is doing an excellent job hunting down the Reds. "To tell you—or to imply as some do

Miners' Policy Panel To Meet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Policy-makers of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers meet here Monday in the shadow of a possible coal strike one week later.

Lewis is now negotiating new contracts with both soft and hard coal producers. The UMW has about 320,000 members working in soft coal mines, 65,000 in the hard coal industry. The UMW's 200-member Policy Committee's meeting usually are held to review negotiations and prepare for the strike threat often used to win concessions from the industry.

Doctor Fined In Dope Case

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—Dr. William Quinn, 79, of Portsmouth, corner of Scioto County, was fined $2,000 Friday and given a one-year suspended sentence for failure to keep records of narcotics dispensed by him as a private physician.

Meanwhile, Dr. Frederick S. Skeen, 39, of Batavia, Clermont County coroner, is awaiting grand jury action on a charge of obtaining narcotics for his own use.

Skeen pleaded innocent. Bond was fixed at $500.

Wholesale Prices Show Declines

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Substantial declines in the price of livestock, eggs, some feed grains and fresh fruits and vegetables pulled the overall wholesale price average down two-tenths of one per cent during the week ended Sept. 9.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing this Friday, said its price index for the week was 111.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

In The Fall, Man's Fancy Also Turns

PORTAGE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Autumnal note from Wisconsin: Two motorists involved in a minor collision Friday explained to authorities they'd been admiring a flight of ducks winging across the highway instead of keeping an eye on the road.

Admiral John L. McCrea (inset) told reporters "a foreign substance caused the damage. How the chips got into the gears has not yet been determined." The damage was discovered a month ago as destroyer prepared for training cruise.

Asia's Biggest Power Plant Is Hammered

350 Tons Of Bombs
Dropped Within 3,000 Feet Of 'Sanctuary'

SEOUL, Sept. 13.—U. S. B-29 Superfortresses Friday night and early Saturday hammered the Communists' partly repaired Suhoi power plant—largest in Asia—in the first of two Allied air blows at the doorstep of Manchuria and Russian Siberia.

At dawn, planes from the U. S. Navy carriers Bon Homme Richard and Princeton struck a troop concentration center at Hoeryong, 1½ miles south of Manchuria and 41 miles west of Siberia.

More than 35 Superforts from Okinawa and Japan droned through Red flak for more than 2½ hours over Suhoi, only 3,000 feet south of Communist Manchuria. It was the northernmost penetration of the Korean war by the giant bombers.

They hurled 350 tons of explosives on installations undergoing repair from the massive Allied fighter bomber raid in June on Suhoi. Suhoi's generators once supplied power to all North Korea and to many Chinese Communist industries in Manchuria.

RECONNAISSANCE reports of moved transformers and new transmission lines, the Air Force said, indicated "the onetime fourth largest power plant of the world was again ripening as a target."

One of the three B29 wings carried 2,000-pound armor-piercing bombs intended to knock out Suhoi's heavy machinery for keeps.

The B29 raid was even heavier than the June raid, an Air Force spokesman said.

The Navy said eight barracks buildings were destroyed and 22 damaged at Hoeryong, where reconnaissance pilots earlier this week had spotted baggage of incoming troops.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its pilots shot down 14 Communist Mig jets without losing a single Sabrejet in the week ended Friday. But the Migs shot down three slower F84 Thunderjets. One F80 Shooting Star was lost to Red ground fire.

On the central front, South Korean soldiers and UN artillery Saturday shot up three attacks by several hundred Chinese at Allied-held Capitol Hill.

Just to the west, Republic of Korea troops ran into firm opposition when they tried to recapture Finger Ridge from the Chinese.

Green Urges AFL Vote For 'Friends'

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has urged his eight million AFL members to get out "the maximum vote for the friends of labor in November, 1952."

"Then and only then," he says, "will we get the kind of change we need in this country, a change away from the Taft-Hartley mentality which has dominated our national Congress."

However, he did not identify the "friends of labor."

Air War Score: U.S. 14, Reds 0

SEOUL, Sept. 13.—U. S. Sabrejets destroyed at least 14 Communist Migs last week without the loss of a single Sabre, the Air Force announced Saturday.

A spokesman said the Migs did manage to break through the protective screen of Sabres and shoot down three slower F84 Thunderjets. One F80 Shooting Star was lost to Red ground fire to bring the week's plane losses to four. The weekly scoreboard showed 14 Migs destroyed, one probably destroyed and 23 damaged.

Carelessness Bares Murder

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—A careless handyman uncovered a murder here Friday.

He dropped a trunk, cracking putty which had been used to seal it shut. Noticing an odd smell, he notified his employer, who ordered the trunk opened.

Inside was the body of a man which police said had been sealed in the trunk for three months. The body was identified as that of Frank S. Moore, about 70, a pensioner.

Birch Befuddles Show Crowd With Escape From Nailed Box

Birch the magician is gone, leaving a lot of bewildered grins and a badly smashed box in Cliftona theater.

The artist in tricky performances made good on his promise to escape from the box Friday night in a show sponsored by Circleville Lions club.

And he did it despite a crowd of suspicious children patrons who "watched every move" and a number of adults who just "can't understand how the man did it."

Included among the adults were three men especially qualified to watch for clues to the secret, but they admitted they also were puzzled.

Wed Edstrom, who took an active part in arranging the show; Henry Johnson, the carpenter who made the box, and Winfield Koch, superintendent of the Children's Home, were the three volunteers who did their best to foil the stunt.

As Edstrom related it: "Birch had the box for about a half-hour before the show, but when it was brought out on the stage we all had plenty of chance to study it for any changes. We didn't see any."

"On the stage, a curtain was hung all around the box to form a square—when the front part was pulled across at the climax of the act—but we moved around and studied the box inside the square."

"They invited us to nail him in—and use plenty of nails. He supplied the nails, but I tested them and they seemed plenty tough all over."

"Then, when we were driving in nails, I even drove several in crooked in case he was aiming to push out one of the sides."

"When we'd finish nailing one side, his helper would have us initial that side so we'd know we had it sealed. Then the box would be moved and we'd do the same on all the other sides—and brother, we certainly did not miss any of the sides!"

"Furthermore, when the spotlight was directly on the box, I could see him inside! He had taken a copy of The Herald inside with him, saying he wanted to sit on it and not get his clothes dusty!"

"Then, when we were all satisfied we had him tight, we left the stage and the curtain was pulled across the front for maybe four or five seconds."

"Then it was yanked open again, and his assistant began calling for Birch and hammering on the box. Suddenly, who walks out from the wings at the side of the stage but Birch himself—certainly the same fellow as I figure it, and no double for the magician!"

"Naturally, everybody wanted to look inside the box which appeared just the way we saw it after the man was inside. So they chopped open the box, and all that was inside was the copy of The Herald! "Brother, I can't figure it out!" The theater manager said. The box is still at the theater but "badly broken up."

2 Youths Admit Local Breakins

Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff Saturday reported Detroit authorities are holding two youths who have admitted two local breakins.

The youths, ages 14 and 15, have admitted breaking into an Era grocery store and a Derby filling station. The breakins happened Sept. 3.

The sheriff said the youths had walked away from a correctional institution in Stark County earlier. The Detroit authorities said 100 from the two local breakins was found in their possession.

Webb Explains Hunting Rule

With squirrel hunting season to begin with shooting light Monday, a phase of law was clarified Saturday in an effort to protect counties who live in rural areas.

Cleon Webb of East Main street, game management supervisor for this district, pointed out regulations governing who will be permitted to hunt without licenses.

"A land-owner and members of his immediate family can legally hunt without a license on his land if they have been residents of Ohio one year or more," Webb said.

"Also a tenant, one who pays cash or grain rent, and his immediate family may legally hunt on the land he rents or manages. Tenants are not workmen hired by the day or month on the farm."

"If the owner of local lands lives out of the state of Ohio," Webb added, "he must secure a non-resident hunting license before he can hunt on his farm or anywhere else in the state."

Webb added that the law requires all hunters to have written permission of the landowner to hunt their property.

New Church Begins Rites Here Sunday

First services of the new Church of Christ in Circleville will be held Sunday, in the Farm Bureau Building, 159 East Main street.

The services will begin with a Bible study at 9:45 a. m. Following this at 10:30 a. m. will be the regular worship, consisting of unaccompanied singing of spiritual songs and hymns; prayer; giving of our means; observance of communion; and the teaching of God's word.

Charles W. Cochran, evangelist of the Church of Christ, will use as his sermon topic, "Why We Exist As A Church."

His text is taken from 1 Peter 3:15, "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

Of the sermon Evangelist Cochran says: "Since we of the church of Christ have put forth effort to start meeting in this community the question might well be asked, 'Why couldn't you have gone in with the other churches and saved all the trouble and expense of meeting separately?' When we consider that division among the professed followers of Christ is detrimental to His work and against the teachings of scriptures this question becomes an important one. Are we not adding to the religious division and confusion that exists? Are we pleasing God by maintaining a separate existence? These and other questions will be answered in the morning sermon."

Lutheran Men Given Outline About Europeans

Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran church met Thursday evening in the parish house.

The meeting was opened with hymns, led by Chorister Ed Ebert, followed by a short devotional led by the Rev. George Troutman.

President Richard Penn opened the business meeting. Of particular interest was a preview of future meetings and activities for the men of Trinity Lutheran church.

After the business meeting, a lunch was served. It was prepared by Mrs. Penn and arranged for and served by the refreshment committee: George Dewey, Kenneth Dewey, Lewis Conkel and Truman Eberle.

Following lunch, the Rev. Mr. Troutman presented a thumbnail sketch of the social, political, psychological and religious conditions of the people in central Europe as he saw them a month ago.

He made an interesting comparison between the European of today and the one of 25 years ago. His talk provoked many questions and was the springboard for a lively discussion period.

Bible Words To Live By

My favorite Bible verse is found in the thirty-eighth verse of the eighth chapter of St. Paul's letter to the Romans. From the Revised Standard version it reads as follows:

"For I am sure that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord."

This is my favorite verse because, in my opinion, it contains the first and final truth about the Christian faith. Simply stated that truth is as follows: The love of God, as that love is revealed in Jesus Christ, is at once universal and personal. That love is held forth redemptively, not simply to men en masse but to every living unique soul. That love is as personal as the kiss of a loved one and as refreshing as a dewdrop in the velvet cup of a rose.

The love of God in Christ is tender like a shepherd, tenacious like a Cross, and as triumphant as the open tomb from which our dear Lord arose. That love is as strong as a life and stronger than death, and the knowledge that nothing can separate us from God's love warms our cold hearts and lifts us above the woes of our faltering mortality.

Dr. Frank Johnson Pippin, Communist Christian Church, Kansas City, Mo.

THE MOST REV. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, addressing the 57th triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in Boston, Mass., advocates exploration of intercommunion between churches and endorses participation by a clergyman of another denomination in an Episcopal ordination. The address followed by a few hours the introduction of a resolution objecting to such participation. (International)

Exalted Privilege To Be Theme In 1st EUB Church

"Andante" is the organ prelude which will introduce unified worship service in First Evangelical United Brethren church at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. Other members to be played by Miss Lucille Kirkwood are "Interlude" and "Morning Postlude."

"Love Divine, All Love Excelling" is the congregational hymn preceding the Scriptural exhortation and the morning prayer.

The Church Choir will sing an anthem, "Living For Jesus," with Miss Phyllis Hawkes singing the solo and Miss Hawkes and Mrs. Alvin Perdon singing the duet.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson will deliver the sermon from a scriptural directive in Hebrews 10:19-25, using the theme, "The Christian's Exalted Privilege."

Of this thought the Rev. Mr. Wilson says: "The ceremonies and sacrifices of the Leviticus order were typical of events connected with the Christian dispensation. In the text St. Paul endeavors to show what these sacrifices and ceremonies were intended to represent. It is explained their numerous offerings undoubtedly were shadows of the last great sacrifice offered in the end of the world once for all. The tabernacle and temple had reference both to the church on earth and the church in heaven. The holiest place had, however, a distinct reference to the habitation of the Deity; and the mercy-seat, from whence Jehovah communicates through His Son, the blessings of salvation to the guilty children of men."

Believers are the privileged priests of the Christian dispensation, only with this advantage over the priests of old—that, while the former were confined to the holy place, believers are allowed to enter the holiest of all, by the blood of Jesus, their High Priest, who hath consecrated a new and living way for them through the veil, that is to say, His flesh; and having an High Priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water.

Therefore, says the Apostle, seeing that this is our exalted privilege, "let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith." From this interesting passage there are three considerations which will be emphasized: 1. The Holiest Place. 2. The Way of Access. 3. The Manner of Approach. For practical Christian living the message reveals the gospel method of salvation by the blood of Jesus; which the believer can readily appreciate. That there must be personal application before any benefits may be derived and enjoyed. That all who personally approach shall obtain mercy. How shall any escape if they neglect so great a salvation?

Church School classes will study a Bible lesson, "David's Religious Contribution."

from the Epistles of Peter in First Evangelical United Brethren church during the prayer and Bible hour at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Millions, Mrs. Florence Noggle and Mrs. Edith Porter are co-hostesses. Mrs. Ed McClarren will direct the program.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

In spite of the many letters from troubled parents that I receive, the many others from those who seem to be almost model mothers and fathers, the many fine families I have observed personally, enable me to keep pretty optimistic about the American home of the future.

Today I want to report a recent visit Mrs. Myers and I made to one such home. We were over-nights.

The young mother was trained as a psychiatric nurse at one of the universities where she met her husband while he was doing advanced work in psychiatry. He is now chief psychiatrist in a famous mental hospital. She is devoting her full time as housewife and mother—and how efficient she is.

Presbyterians To Hear Sermon By Rev. Bone

The Rev. Maurice D. Bone, associate director of young people's work of the Presbyterian church, will be guest minister Sunday during worship services in Presbyterian church. The Rev. Donald Mitchell will preside.

The Rev. Mr. Bone will preach upon "Our Spiritual Inheritance." Accompanying him is the Rev. Hal Viehman of the department of student work with the Presbyterian board of Christian education in Philadelphia.

In the afternoon, the men will direct a meeting of a committee of six Presbyterian young people for the purpose of planning the National Assembly of Presbyterian Youth, which will meet in Grinnell College.

The youth delegates are Stan Schmidt of Sioux City, Ia.; Don Mac Innes of Cheko, Calif.; Rocelyn Roney of Lawrence, Kan.; Dick Celender of La Grange, Ill.; Bruce Rigdon of Oxford, Penn.; and Anne Downing of Circleville.

In the afternoon, a number of men from the church will attend the annual Presbyterian Men's Fall retreat at Tar Hollow at 3 p. m.

Dr. Clifford Barbour, former moderator of Presbyterian general assembly, now president of Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh, will address the gathering of 150 men of the Presbytery. Communion will be observed and a discussion of value to the evangelistic life of the church will be the program.

At 8 p. m., the Couples Club will meet in the church. Their program will include a panel discussion on "The Best Use of Time and Energy."

an hour before the father returned from work. The two little girls were just getting up from their afternoon nap, still upstairs.

A little boy playmate had just arrived. A neighbor girl about six had had her nap there when the girls did.

THE MOTHER visited leisurely with us while the girls dressed themselves. Each called downstairs once or twice about some clothing she couldn't find, and the mother went up a few times to help. Before very long the children all appeared, and after pausing to greet us, went to the back yard to play; and we heard very little from them until dinner was served.

The mother, who has some domestic help but had none then, resumed her visit with us until after her husband arrived, going to the kitchen for brief periods occasionally. Without any show of haste or embarrassment she soon had the dinner ready, her husband helping her a good deal.

We all sat down together at a quiet meal. The children enjoyed their dinner. Not a word was said about their food or eating. No word of rebuke or caution was heard. Each child talked some, but not much.

No voice was raised. After each had finished dessert, she left for the back yard. About an hour later, the father put them to bed. They went off happily and soon were quiet for the night. These little children enjoyed lots of affection and emotional security.

Incidentally, we learned that these psychiatric experts deliberately practice some selective spanking according to a carefully-thought-through program.

Q. Will our repeating or memorizing the Ten Commandments guarantee that we and our children will obey them?

A. No; but it should help keep before our hearts and minds good moral and religious principles toward which to strive.

Q. Should we regulate the radio and television programs our children, five and seven, may hear and the amount of time they may devote to them?

A. Of course. Remember, too, that your children need to spend considerable time at outdoor fun with other children.

Salvation Topic To Be Heard In Nazarene Church

"A Positive Salvation" is to be the worship theme delivered during worship service Sunday in Church of the Nazarene by the Rev. R. V. Clay of Toledo, brother of the Rev. Doyle Clay, pastor.

Sunday school classes will meet at 9:30 a. m. to study a lesson entitled "David, The Man Of God." Young people of the church will meet at 6:45 p. m.

Final service in a series of special revival services will be held at 7:30 p. m. with the Rev. R. V. Clay delivering the concluding sermon.

Rites Announced For St. Joseph's

Masses in St. Joseph's Catholic church Sunday will be at 8 a. m., a low Mass, and a high Mass at 10 a. m. Week day Masses will be held at 7:30 a. m.

Holy Name society will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the basement of the church.

Wednesday, Friday and Saturday are Ember Days, days of fasting and abstinence in the church.

Youth Rally Day To Be Observed In Calvary EUB

"Youth Rally Day" will be observed Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church by direction of the Sunday school.

The entire month of September is being observed as rally month, culminating with a "Rally Day" for the entire Sunday school on Sept. 28.

Dale DeLong, superintendent of the Sunday school, will lead in the devotionals in the morning service, assisted by Miss Minnie Wilkerson at the piano. The Rev. J. A. Herbst will bring an appropriate message for the morning.

Following worship service, the church school will be held. The lesson which will be studied by the various classes is "David's Religious Contribution".

Children's department, under the direction of Mrs. Mark DeLong, will hold its worship separate in the Sunday school annex.

Worship Rites Are Readied For Lutherans

Sermon in Trinity Lutheran church for the 14th Sunday after Trinity will be based upon the Epistle Lesson as found in Galatians 5:16-25.

In developing the theme "They that are Christ's" it will be stressed a Christian must not only have a new life given to him by the Spirit of God, but that that new life must express itself in an outward life that definitely is led by the Spirit. To be called Christ's, one must crucify the flesh, be done with sin, and live a life of righteousness in conformity with God's Law.

Senior Choir will lead the congregation in the singing of hymns. Special music has been planned.

David's Religious Contribution ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—II Samuel 6-7; 23:1-7; I Chronicles 17:1-5, 11, 12, 16-23.

By Alfred J. Buescher

When King David at last brought the Ark of Jehovah to Jerusalem, the city of David, David danced before the Ark and the people brought it "with shouting and with the sound of the trumpet."

David told the prophet, Nathan, that he wanted to build a temple to house the Ark of Jehovah. Nathan told him to do so, but God told Nathan to forbid David to build the temple in his reign.

David communed with Jehovah and was told that he, but his son, should build the temple. David thanked Jehovah for all His goodness, saying, "O Jehovah, let the word that Thou hast spoken be established for ever."

David, near his death, said, "The God of Israel spake to me, and His word was: He that ruleth over Israel must be just, ruling in the fear of God." MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 100:2.

New Church Begins Rites Here Sunday

First services of the new Church of Christ in Circleville will be held Sunday, in the Farm Bureau Building, 159 East Main street.

The services will begin with a Bible study at 9:45 a. m. Following this at 10:30 a. m. will be the regular worship, consisting of unaccompanied singing of spiritual songs and hymns; prayer; giving of our means; observance of communion; and the teaching of God's word.

Charles W. Cochran, evangelist of the Church of Christ, will use as his sermon topic, "Why We Exist As A Church."

His text is taken from 1 Peter 3:15, "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

Of the sermon Evangelist Cochran says: "Since we of the church of Christ have put forth effort to start meeting in this community the question might well be asked, 'Why couldn't you have gone in with the other churches and saved all the trouble and expense of meeting separately?' When we consider that division among the professed followers of Christ is detrimental to His work and against the teachings of scriptures this question becomes an important one. Are we not adding to the religious division and confusion that exists? Are we pleasing God by maintaining a separate existence? These and other questions will be answered in the morning sermon."

Lutheran Men Given Outline About Europeans

Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran church met Thursday evening in the parish house.

The meeting was opened with hymns, led by Chorister Ed Ebert, followed by a short devotional led by the Rev. George Troutman.

President Richard Penn opened the business meeting. Of particular interest was a preview of future meetings and activities for the men of Trinity Lutheran church.

After the business meeting, a lunch was served. It was prepared by Mrs. Penn and arranged for and served by the refreshment committee: George Dewey, Kenneth Dewey, Lewis Conkel and Truman Eberle.

Following lunch, the Rev. Mr. Troutman presented a thumbnail sketch of the social, political, psychological and religious conditions of the people in central Europe as he saw them a month ago.

He made an interesting comparison between the European of today and the one of 25 years ago. His talk provoked many questions and was the springboard for a lively discussion period.

Bible Words To Live By

My favorite Bible verse is found in the thirty-eighth verse of the eighth chapter of St. Paul's letter to the Romans. From the Revised Standard version it reads as follows:

"For I am sure that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord."

This is my favorite verse because, in my opinion, it contains the first and final truth about the Christian faith. Simply stated that truth is as follows: The love of God, as that love is revealed in Jesus Christ, is at once universal and personal. That love is held forth redemptively, not simply to men en masse but to every living unique soul. That love is as personal as the kiss of a loved one and as refreshing as a dewdrop in the velvet cup of a rose.

The love of God in Christ is tender like a shepherd, tenacious like a cross, and as triumphant as the open tomb from which our dear Lord arose. That love is as strong as life and stronger than death, and the knowledge that nothing can separate us from God's love warms our cold hearts and lifts us above the woes of our faltering mortality. Dr. Frank Johnson Pippin, Communist Christian Church, Kansas City, Mo.

THE MOST REV. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, addressing the 57th triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in Boston, Mass., advocates exploration of intercommunion between churches and endorses participation by a clergyman of another denomination in an Episcopal ordination. The address followed by a few hours the introduction of a resolution objecting to such participation. (International)

Exalted Privilege To Be Theme In 1st EUB Church

"Andante" is the organ prelude which will introduce unified worship service in First Evangelical United Brethren church at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. Other members to be played by Miss Lucille Kirkwood are "Interlude" and "Morning Postlude."

"Love Divine, All Love Excelling" is the congregational hymn preceding the Scriptural exhortation and the morning prayer.

The Church Choir will sing an anthem, "Living For Jesus," with Miss Phyllis Hawkes singing the solo and Miss Hawkes and Mrs. Alvin Perdon singing the duet.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson will deliver the sermon from a scriptural directive in Hebrews 10:19-25, using the theme, "The Christian's Exalted Privilege."

Of this thought the Rev. Mr. Wilson says: "The ceremonies and sacrifices of the Leviticus order were typical of events connected with the Christian dispensation. In the text St. Paul endeavors to show what these sacrifices and ceremonies were intended to represent. It is explained their numerous offerings undoubtedly were shadows of the last great sacrifice offered in the end of the world once for all. The tabernacle and temple had reference both to the church on earth and the church in heaven. The holiest place had, however, a distinct reference to the habitation of the Diety; and the mercy-seat, to the throne of the heavenly grace, from whence Jehovah communicates through His Son, the blessings of salvation to the guilty children of men."

Believers are the privileged priests of the Christian dispensation, only with this advantage over the priests of old—that, while the former were confined to the holy place, believers are allowed to enter the holiest of all, by the blood of Jesus, their High Priest, who hath consecrated a new and living way for them through the veil, that is to say, His flesh; and having an High Priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water.

Therefore, says the Apostle, seeing that this is our exalted privilege, "let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith." From this interesting passage there are three considerations which will be emphasized: 1. The Holiest Place. 2. The Way of Access. 3. The Manner of Approach. For practical Christian living the message reveals the gospel method of salvation by the blood of Jesus; which the believer can readily appreciate. That there must be personal application before any benefits may be derived and enjoyed. That all who personally approach shall obtain mercy. How shall any escape if they neglect so great a salvation?

Church School classes will study a Bible lesson, "David's Religious Contribution."

from the Epistles of Peter in First Evangelical United Brethren church during the prayer and Bible hour at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Ernest May will preside in a business and social meeting of the Shining Light Class of First Evangelical United Brethren church at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the service center. Mrs. J. E. Millions, Mrs. Florence Noggle and Mrs. Edith Porter are co-hostesses. Dr. McElarren will direct the program.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

In spite of the many letters from troubled parents that I receive, the many others from those who seem to be almost model mothers and fathers, the many fine families I have observed personally, enable me to keep pretty optimistic about the American home of the future.

Today I want to report a recent visit Mrs. Myers and I made to one such home. We were overnight guests.

The young mother was trained as a psychiatric nurse at one of the universities where she met her husband while he was doing advanced work in psychiatry. He is now chief psychiatrist in a famous mental hospital. She is devoting her full time as housewife and mother—and how efficient she is.

They have two little girls, two and a half and five.

Mrs. Myers and I arrived about an hour before the father returned from work. The two little girls were just getting up from their afternoon nap, still upstairs.

A little boy playmate had just arrived. A neighbor girl about six had had her nap there when the girls did.

THE MOTHER visited leisurely with us while the girls dressed themselves. Each called downstairs once or twice about some clothing she couldn't find, and the mother went up a few times to help. Before very long the children all appeared, and after pausing to greet us, went to the back yard to play; and we heard very little from them until dinner was served.

The mother, who has some domestic help but had none then, resumed her visit with us until after her husband arrived, going to the kitchen for brief periods occasionally. Without any show of haste or embarrassment she soon had the dinner ready, her husband helping her a good deal.

We all sat down together at a quiet meal. The children enjoyed their dinner. Not a word was said about their food or eating. No word of rebuke or caution was heard. Each child talked some, but not much.

No voice was raised. After each had finished dessert, she left for the back yard. About an hour later, the father put them to bed. They went off happily and soon were quiet for the night. These little children enjoyed lots of affection and emotional security.

Incidentally, we learned that these psychiatric experts deliberately practice some selective spanking according to a carefully-thought-through program.

Q. Will our repeating or memorizing the Ten Commandments guarantee that we and our children will obey them?

A. No; but it should help keep before our hearts and minds good moral and religious principles to ward which to strive.

Q. Should we regulate the radio and television programs our children, five and seven, may hear and the amount of time they may devote to them?

A. Of course. Remember, too, that your children need to spend considerable time at outdoor fun with other children.

Salvation Topic To Be Heard In Nazarene Church

"A Positive Salvation" is to be the worship theme delivered during worship service Sunday in Church of the Nazarene by the Rev. R. V. Clay of Toledo, brother of the Rev. Doyle Clay, pastor.

Sunday school classes will meet at 9:30 a. m. to study a lesson entitled "David, The Man Of God." Young people of the church will meet at 6:45 p. m.

Final service in a series of special revival services will be held at 7:30 p. m. with the Rev. R. V. Clay delivering the concluding sermon.

Rites Announced For St. Joseph's

Masses in St. Joseph's Catholic church Sunday will be at 8 a. m., a low Mass, and a high Mass at 10 a. m. Week day Masses will be held at 7:30 a. m.

Holy Name society will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the basement of the church.

Wednesday, Friday and Saturday are Ember Days, days of fasting and abstinence in the church.

Youth Rally Day To Be Observed In Calvary EUB

"Youth Rally Day" will be observed Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church by direction of the Sunday school.

The entire month of September is being observed as rally month, culminating with a "Rally Day" for the entire Sunday school on Sept. 28.

Dale DeLong, superintendent of the Sunday school, will lead in the devotionals in the morning service, assisted by Miss Minnie Wilkerson at the piano. The Rev. J. A. Herbst will bring an appropriate message for the morning.

Following worship service, the church school will be held. The lesson which will be studied by the various classes is "David's Religious Contribution."

Children's department, under the direction of Mrs. Mark DeLong, will hold its worship separate in the Sunday school annex.

Worship Rites Are Readied For Lutherans

Sermon in Trinity Lutheran church for the 14th Sunday after Trinity will be based upon the Epistle Lesson as found in Galatians 5:16-25.

In developing the theme "They that are Christ's" it will be stressed a Christian must not only have a new life given to him by the Spirit of God, but that that new life must express itself in an outward life that definitely is led by the Spirit. To be called Christ's, one must crucify the flesh, be done with sin, and live a life of righteousness in conformity with God's Law.

Senior Choir will lead the congregation in the singing of hymns. Special music has been planned.

David's Religious Contribution

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Samuel 6-7; 23:1-7; I Chronicles 17:1-5, 11, 12, 16-23.

When King David at last brought the Ark of Jehovah to Jerusalem, the city of David, David danced before the Ark and the people brought it "with shouting and with the sound of the trumpet."

David told the prophet, Nathan, that he wanted to build a temple to house the Ark of Jehovah. Nathan told him to do so, but God told Nathan to forbid David to build the temple in his reign.

David communed with Jehovah and was told that he, but his son, should build the temple. David thanked Jehovah for all His goodness, saying, "O Jehovah, let the word that Thou hast spoken be established for ever."

David, near his death, said, "The God of Israel spake to me, and His word was: He that ruleth over Israel must be just, ruling in the fear of God." MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 100:2.

DARK AGES AND SAVAGES

CRAZY DICTATORS IN POSSESSION of atomic weapons and avid for power are on the loose, therefore the Civil Defense Administration would be remiss if it did not issue blueprints of atom blast-resistant houses and other structures for the guidance of builders.

These buildings are generally windowless and of solid reinforced concrete construction. Designs for homes may include a sun room on top which could be closed off if an alarm sounds. This would afford protection against radiation and anything but a direct hit. Downtown buildings could have windows in the upper stories, the tenants there being alerted to move down to shelter in time of peril.

Perhaps the concept of extensive underground shelters for cities and target areas is outmoded. Civil defense authorities have a design for a building 52 to 52 feet, three stories above ground and one below, walls and roof of a minimum thickness of 12 inches. These could be built more economically than underground shelters.

It is a tragic commentary on "civilization" that such steps should be considered necessary. It takes mankind back to the Dark Ages when the lords built moated and fortified castles and to the time in America when communities were built around stockades behind which to retreat when savages attacked.

THE SCHOOLS

WITH PUBLIC SCHOOLS reopened throughout the nation, interest again centers on the nation's educational system and its ability to meet the needs of a growing population which in recent years has taxed its physical facilities and teaching staffs in practically every community.

The schools have ever been a powerful factor in the perpetuation of liberty and the fundamental principle that all men are created equal. In providing free education public schools have promoted a spirit of equality which is the core of American life.

The danger is that the American people will accept the public schools as a matter of course, losing interest in their operation and their future. During these opening days of a new term, parents especially should renew their interest in the nation's most important facility, the public school—upon which America's future so largely depends.

These Days

The more one listens to the candidates and their supporters, the less clear is the attitude of both political parties toward our foreign policy. Eisenhower is running on a Dulles program; Stevenson is running on an Acheson program. Both programs, when analyzed, leave few differences in fact, although the Republicans can and do charge errors in China and Korea.

However, as General Eisenhower will not attack the fallacies of General Marshall and ignores the existence of General Douglas MacArthur and General Albert C. Wedemeyer and the hearings before the Russell Committee, his criticism of the State Department is without substance.

Unless the foreign policy is frankly discussed, any proposals with regard to the domestic policy lie fallow. For it is the conduct of our foreign relations that determines our tax rate, our public debt and the value of our money. It is therefore impossible to separate the foreign from the domestic policy on basic problems. The attempt of the candidates to do it leaves the present campaign as confused as that of 1944.

Obviously our foreign policy is designed to avoid a fighting war with Soviet Russia. Since 1943, at Teheran, it should have been obvious to anyone who deals with this problem, that Soviet Russia is our enemy. Between 1943 and 1945, it was our policy to appease Soviet Russia in Europe; similarly, such was our policy in China up to the Korean War in 1950.

Soviet Russia rejected our appeasements and forced upon us the necessity of purchasing allies. Today, this policy has cost us about $50 billion which is not too much if war is averted, but which is scandalously profligate should a fighting war come. The men who were responsible for the mistakes beginning with Teheran are alive, except for Roosevelt, Hopkins and Stimson. For instance, Averell Harriman is actually hopeful of becoming Stevenson's Secretary of State. In my judgment, Dean Acheson would be preferable to Averell Harriman.

The central point of our foreign policy in Europe must be Germany. That country could unite with Russia as Soviet China has united with Russia. A Soviet realm from the Rhine to the Pacific is not inconceivable. While there is no danger to the United States should Germany become a major military power, such a development could imperil France and Great Britain. The integration of Germany into Western Europe, without peril to France, would be the highest achievement of statesmanship. The failure to accomplish this could give Soviet Russia a further major victory without a war.

Thus far, there has been no discussion of this basic problem by either candidate. Instead, General Eisenhower pursues the phantom of revolutionary liberation of the peripheral countries of the Soviet Empire. This concept of victory by guerrilla activities is a total misreading of the Marxian revolution in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania. It ignores the Marxian weapon of mass affiliation which the Kremlin employs as a means of war.

DIET AND HEALTH

Drug Given Pre-Operatively Lessens Danger Of Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BEFORE an operation on the bowels, there is the special problem of sterilizing them—that is, killing dangerous germs that might be living in the bowel lining or contents. To do this, drugs are usually given by mouth before the operation.

By discouraging the growth of germs, such drugs have added much to the safety of many different types of bowel operations. The most frequent of these are operations for tumors, both the cancerous and non-cancerous types.

Risk of Peritonitis

Antiseptics are important because the bowel normally contains many bacteria and germs, and it must be opened up during most bowel operations. In many cases this would present the risk of peritonitis, a dangerous and possibly fatal infection of the lining of the abdomen.

Up until recently, certain "sulfa" drugs were used to sterilize the bowels. While they are very effective, they have certain drawbacks. Considerable time is required for the bowel to become sterile when they are used. Much valuable time may thus be wasted while waiting for the drugs to act.

Effective Antibiotic

Recently, a new antibiotic drug, known as neomycin, has been used for this purpose. It has great activity in killing germs of all kinds, and remains effective as long as it is retained in the body.

Another advantage is that neomycin is not absorbed very well from the intestine, so there is little danger of poisoning the system. Neither does it cause much irritation of the bowel, nor does it impair the production of vitamin K which is so crucial in surgery. Vitamin K helps to form prothrombin, a substance necessary for blood clotting. The other drugs destroy this vitamin.

In preparing for a bowel operation, the patient is usually given a strong laxative before the neomycin. He must also be fed a diet that leaves little residue in the bowels, prior to taking this medicine. The drug itself has a tendency to loosen bowel movement.

This new antibiotic is expected to be helpful in saving or prolonging the lives of those suffering from intestinal tumors.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. W.: I have epilepsy and take sodium dilantin daily. Could this drug cause me to become a drug addict?

Answer: There is no likelihood of your becoming a drug addict from taking this preparation. It would be advisable for you to continue taking the drug as long as your physician prescribes it.

SYNOPSIS

Nance and young Doctor Jeremy Ireland are about to be married in the small town of Thurstonia when beautiful, wealthy, calculating Eve Romney comes into their lives. She has returned to this small hamlet to seek revenge on the Ireland family. Once briefly in childhood they had adopted her, but because of her vicious little ways, had returned her to an orphanage. She conspires now to meet their son, the doctor, begs his help in the matter of finding new friends, since she means to live permanently in Thurstonia. Sorry for this lovely, lonely girl, Jeremy introduces her to Nance.

CHAPTER EIGHT

JEREMY, driving slowly and scrutinizing the houses on his side, was not listening to them. "Here," he said, pulling over to the curb. "I knew I remembered a For Sale sign along here somewhere."

Eve gave the house a cursory glance, rejected it with, "Too big," and Jeremy let out the clutch.

"There's that little stucco bungalow on the Drive," Nance suggested. "Remember, Jeremy? The one we looked at. Only we want more space. We've got five acres, Eve. We're going to have a garden and an orchard."

"And dogs and kids," Jeremy added.

Coldly Eve commented, "How nice."

Her chilly tone, surprising Nance, stopped the surge of excitement that always came to her when she thought of the house Jeremy would build for her.

The stucco, Eve said critically, was peeling off the bungalow, and the frame house they showed her next was, she said, impossible with all that gingerbread.

"You'd better turn me over to a real estate agent," Eve said, after an unprofitable hour. "I'm spoiling your evening."

She said it to both of them, but across Nance her eyes sought Jeremy's appealingly.

"It's all right," he said.

"Jeremy," Nance said impulsively, "let's drive out to the lake for a swim. If you'd like it, Eve? Or after your experience in the river, do you stay away from water?"

"Isn't it policy," Eve asked, "to climb back on the horse that throws you?"

Joe E. Lewis is a master at putting hecklers in their place while he is doing his act on a nightclub floor, but Peter Lind Hayes remembers one evening a party of drunks at a Chicago cafe was too much even for Joe. Their raucous laughter and insulting drivel grew worse and worse.

Finally, Lewis lost his temper and ordered, "Put the spotlight on those louts! They evidently want to do the floor show themselves." The light was beamed over the agitators, whereupon the drunkest of the lot lurched to his feet and exulted, "Smile, everybody. They're gonna take our picture." Even Lewis laughed at that.

When Old Man Klopfer came down with pneumonia, Mrs. Kreiswirth kicked the nurse sent by the doctor right out of the house and took over herself. "I know more about pneumonia than any nurses," she maintained. "Didn't I have three husbands who died of it?"

Editor's Note: Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—"Do you think that Governor Stevenson is justified in describing General Eisenhower's 'liberation' statement as a threat or incitement to war?" inquires Mrs. K. L. of Passaic, N. J.

'ORATORY'—Answer: I think that altogether too much importance has been attached to this declaration, which was first made by John Foster Dulles, and that the Democrats' use of it can be branded as "campaign oratory." In fact, I was surprised that the Illinois governor thought it worthy of the notice he has given it.

From his personal contacts with European politicians and military men, Eisenhower realizes that their great fear is a repetition of World War II, when occupied countries were "liberated" by the Western Allies only after they had been destroyed. Since the same disaster would visit peoples now behind the Iron Curtain, Ike could not have meant what Stevenson attributes to him. That is, an abortive rebellion inspired by the United Nations or the United States, or an actual war against the occupying Russian forces.

POLITICS—Like, of course, was also including in some inside politics. In the first place, he was indirectly criticizing the Administration's efforts, through the Voice of America and other media, to keep alive anti-Russian sentiment and activities in the imprisoned countries.

Both Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill share his views on that question, which explains why the Voice's appropriations have been cut so heavily in recent years.

Eisenhower undoubtedly believed that his proposal might make votes among American relatives and descendants of the peoples now under Moscow's brutal rule. They are not entirely happy over the Truman-Acheson policy of merely "containing" Russia, for it means that they are "contained" behind prison bars.

However, I doubt if too much will be heard about this question as the campaign progresses to more relevant issues.

FAVORED—"Is it true," asks J. C. of Springfield, Mass., "that the people of England, France and other European countries, including government leaders, oppose the election of General Eisenhower?"

Answer: For obvious reasons, that is an extremely difficult question to answer satisfactorily. As I wrote during the Republican convention, foreign correspondents and interests favored Eisenhower over Sen. Robert A. Taft. They were suspicious of the senator's isolationist tendencies, and they were sure that Ike would continue the collective security program.

FEAR—From talking with European spokesmen at Washington I believe that the continental groups—the French, Belgians, Dutch, etc.—are not too keen for Ike. Although they like and admire him personally, they fear that a military figure in the White House might be too ready to wage war. They also suspect that, with his background, he might demand that Europe do more to help itself.

The Churchill group, however, would welcome Ike's election, albeit quietly and discreetly. In public affairs as in private business, it is easier to get along with a personal friend and a wartime comrade.

I should note, however, that foreign spokesmen refrain scrupulously from showing any personal preference as between the two candidates.

VISITED—"Is Senator Richard M. Nixon," asks H. K. of Tonawanda, N. Y., "the same Nixon who visited Franco in Spain in 1948? It seems odd that a man running for vice president as a foe of Communism should visit a Fascist dictator."

Answer: Senator Nixon says that he has never visited Spain or Franco. However, the Generalissimo has been visited and honored by many members of Congress, by highest military representatives and by our diplomats. The Pentagon experts are only too anxious to include Spain within our anti-Russian force, and Secretary Acheson has reluctantly accepted their viewpoint.

Negotiations for air bases on the peninsula have recently dragged supposedly because of Franco's heavy demands. But it is generally believed the Administration hopes to delay an agreement until after November 4 lest it alienate liberal votes in this country.

INCIDENT—Thanks to C. H. S. of White Plains, N. Y., and J. M. L. Jr. of Fairfield, Conn., for reminding me of an incident in the 1912 presidential campaign which I had forgotten. Explaining that the national committees nominate substitute candidates if either the presidential or vice-presidential nominee dies after the convention, I said that it had never happened in our history.

In 1912 the Republicans renominated Vice President James S. Sherman of New York as Taft's runningmate. Sherman died on Oct. 12, and the late Nicholas Murray Butler of New York was substituted.

DARK AGES AND SAVAGES

CRAZY DICTATORS IN POSSESSION of atomic weapons and avid for power are on the loose, therefore the Civil Defense Administration would be remiss if it did not issue blueprints of atom blast-resistant houses and other structures for the guidance of builders.

These buildings are generally windowless and of solid reinforced concrete construction. Designs for homes may include a sun room on top which could be closed off if an alarm sounds. This would afford protection against radiation and anything but a direct hit. Downtown buildings could have windows in the upper stories, the tenants there being alerted to move down to shelter in time of peril.

Perhaps the concept of extensive underground shelters for cities and target areas is outmoded. Civil defense authorities have a design for a building 52 to 52 feet, three stories above ground and one below, walls and roof of a minimum thickness of 12 inches. These could be built more economically than underground shelters.

It is a tragic commentary on "civilization" that such steps should be considered necessary. It takes mankind back to the Dark Ages when the lords built moated and fortified castles and to the time in America when communities were built around stockades behind which to retreat when savages attacked.

THE SCHOOLS

WITH PUBLIC SCHOOLS reopened throughout the nation, interest again centers on the nation's educational system and its ability to meet the needs of a growing population which in recent years has taxed its physical facilities and teaching staffs in practically every community.

The schools have ever been a powerful factor in the perpetuation of liberty and the fundamental principle that all men are created equal. In providing free education public schools have promoted a spirit of equality which is the core of American life.

The danger is that the American people will accept the public schools as a matter of course, losing interest in their operation and their future. During these opening days of a new term, parents especially should renew their interest in the nation's most important facility, the public school—upon which America's future so largely depends.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The more one listens to the candidates and their supporters, the less clear is the attitude of both political parties toward our foreign policy. Eisenhower is running on a Dulles program; Stevenson is running on an Acheson program. Both programs, when analyzed, leave few differences in fact, although the Republicans can and do charge errors in China and Korea.

However, as General Eisenhower will not attack the fallacies of General Marshall and ignores the existence of General Douglas MacArthur and General Albert C. Wedemeyer and the hearings before the Russell Committee, his criticism of the State Department is without substance.

Unless the foreign policy is frankly discussed, any proposals with regard to the domestic policy lie fallow. For it is the conduct of our foreign relations that determines our tax rate, our public debt and the value of our money. It is therefore impossible to separate the foreign from the domestic policy on basic problems. The attempt of the candidates to do it leaves the present campaign as confused as that of 1944.

Obviously our foreign policy is designed to avoid a fighting war with Soviet Russia. Since 1943, at Teheran, it should have been obvious to anyone who deals with this problem, that Soviet Russia is our enemy. Between 1943 and 1945, it was our policy to appease Soviet Russia in Europe; similarly, such was our policy in China up to the Korean War in 1950.

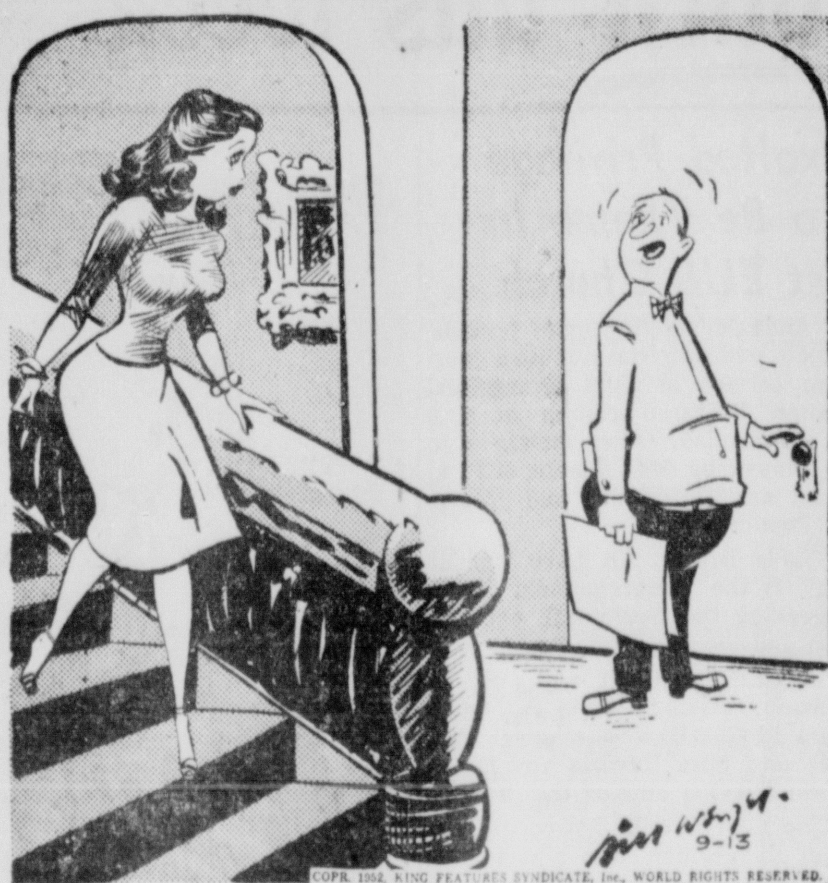

Soviet Russia rejected our appeasements and forced upon us the necessity of purchasing allies. Today, this policy has cost us about $50 billion which is not too much if war is averted, but which is scandalously profligate should a fighting war come. The men who were responsible for the mistakes beginning with Teheran are alive, except for Roosevelt, Hopkins and Stimson. For instance, Averell Harriman is actually hopeful of becoming Stevenson's Secretary of State. In my judgment, Dean Acheson would be preferable to Averell Harriman.

The central point of our foreign policy in Europe must be Germany. That country could unite with Russia as Soviet China has united with Russia. A Soviet realm from the Rhine to the Pacific is not inconceivable. While there is no danger to the United States should Germany become a major military power, such a development could imperil France and Great Britain. The integration of Germany into Western Europe, without peril to France, would be the highest achievement of statesmanship. The failure to accomplish this could give Soviet Russia a further major victory without a war.

Thus far, there has been no discussion of this basic problem by either candidate. Instead, General Eisenhower pursues the phantom of revolutionary liberation of the peripheral countries of the Soviet Empire. This concept of victory by guerrilla activities is a total misreading of the Marxian revolution in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania. It ignores the Marxian weapon of mass affiliation which the Kremlin employs as a means of war.

Drug Given Pre-Operatively Lessens Danger Of Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BEFORE an operation on the bowels, there is the special problem of sterilizing them—that is, killing dangerous germs that might be living in the bowel lining or contents. To do this, drugs are usually given by mouth before the operation.

By discouraging the growth of germs, such drugs have added much to the safety of many different types of bowel operations. The most frequent of these are operations for tumors, both the cancerous and non-cancerous types.

Risk of Peritonitis

Antiseptics are important because the bowel normally contains many bacteria and germs, and it must be opened up during most bowel operations. In many cases this would present the risk of peritonitis, a dangerous and possibly fatal infection of the lining of the abdomen.

Up until recently, certain "sulfa" drugs were used to sterilize the bowels. While they are very effective, they have certain drawbacks. Considerable time is required for the bowel to become sterile when they are used. Much valuable time may thus be wasted while waiting for the drugs to act.

Effective Antibiotic

Recently, a new antibiotic drug, known as neomycin, has been used for this purpose. It has great activity in killing germs of all kinds, and remains effective as long as it is retained in the body.

Another advantage is that neomycin is not absorbed very well from the intestine, so there is little danger of poisoning the system. Neither does it cause much irritation of the bowel, nor does it impair the production of vitamin K which is so crucial in surgery. Vitamin K helps to form prothrombin, a substance necessary for blood clotting. The other drugs destroy this vitamin.

In preparing for a bowel operation, the patient is usually given a strong laxative before the neomycin. He must also be fed a diet that leaves little residue in the bowels, prior to taking this medicine. The drug itself has a tendency to loosen bowel movement.

This new antibiotic is expected to be helpful in saving or prolonging the lives of those suffering from intestinal tumors.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. W.: I have epilepsy and take sodium dilantin daily. Could this drug cause me to become a drug addict?

Answer: There is no likelihood of your becoming a drug addict from taking this preparation. It would be advisable for you to continue taking the drug as long as your physician prescribes it.

SYNOPSIS

Nance and young Doctor Jeremy Ireland are about to be married in the small town of Thurstonia when beautiful, wealthy, calculating Eve Romney comes into their lives. She has returned to this small hamlet to seek refuge on the Ireland family. Once briefly in childhood they had adopted her, but because of her vicious little ways, had returned her to an orphanage. She conspires now to meet their son, the doctor, begs his help in the matter of finding new friends, since she means to live permanently in Thurstonia. Sorry for this lovely, lonely girl, Jeremy introduces her to Nance.

CHAPTER EIGHT

JEREMY, driving slowly and scrutinizing the houses on his side, was not listening to them. "Here," he said, pulling over to the curb. "I knew I remembered a For Sale sign along here somewhere."

Eve gave the house a cursory glance, rejected it with, "Too big," and Jeremy let out the clutch.

"There's that little stucco bungalow on the Drive," Nance suggested. "Remember, Jeremy? The one we looked at. Only we want more space. We've got five acres, Eve. We're going to have a garden and an orchard."

"And dogs and kids," Jeremy added.

Coldly Eve commented, "How nice."

Her chilly tone, surprising Nance, stopped the surge of excitement that always came to her when she thought of the house Jeremy would build for her.

The stucco, Eve said critically, was peeling off the bungalow, and the frame house they showed her next was, she said, impossible with all that gingerbread.

"You'd better turn me over to a real estate agent," Eve said, after an unprofitable hour. "I'm spoiling your evening."

She said it to both of them, but across Nance her eyes sought Jeremy's appealingly.

"It's all right," he said.

"Jeremy," Nance said impulsively, "let's drive out to the lake for a swim. If you'd like it, Eve? Or after your experience in the river, do you stay away from water?"

"Isn't it policy," Eve asked, "to climb back on the horse that throws you?"

Nance nodded approvingly. "We keep swim suits in the luggage compartment all summer."

"I have one at the hotel," Eve said.

"We'll stop by for it."

The lake was five miles out of town. It was mirror smooth and held the sky's sunset flames and the inverted images of elms and poplars on the shore. There was a strip of beach and a bathhouse where they changed.

Jeremy challenged, "Race you to the raft!" and Nance ran with him into the water, then flattened and swam.

Halfway to the raft, she thought, Where's Eve? She trod water and looked back.

Eve was at the water's edge, crouched, dabbling her toes.

Nance waved for her to come on, and continued after Jeremy.

When they climbed on the raft, Nance said, "She's afraid."

"Eve? If she is—of anything—I'll swallow my scalpel!"

"Weren't you listening when she was telling us how she almost drowned?"

"Only half . . . And here she comes."

Jeremy reached both hands down to lift Eve up beside them. She stumbled on the slippery planks, and Jeremy's hands stayed a moment on her shoulders, steadying her. When he let her go, Eve sat hugging her knees, rocking her body slowly back and forth.

Drops of water beaded her skin. Fascinated, Nance watched the minute spherules slide and merge and trickle down the smooth legs to tapered ankles.

She is beautiful, Nance thought. And meeting Jeremy's eyes, she caught him sharing the thought.

A small breeze came from nowhere, shook across the lake, corrugating the water. The imprisoned images shivered. Nance felt a sudden unaccountable chill.

"Cold?" Jeremy asked, seeing her huddle into herself.

"No."

Eve was smiling. Presently, from a water-proofed pocket she produced cigarettes.

They smoked companionably. Nance, watching the slow climb of smoke disintegrate in the graying twilight, felt the silence become unfriendly, unharmonious. It had no unity. There was an insulating vacuum around the thought patterns of each of them, and no means of communication. Nance felt isolated.

Eve was a shadow in shadows now, nebulous, mysterious. Who was she? Nance asked herself. Why had she come here? Why, of all the doctors in Thurstonia who might have fitted as well into her ruse of the faded sore throat, had she chosen Jeremy? Coincidence has an extraordinarily long arm, but it did stretch credence to the limit for Eve to choose by sheer chance the youngest and the most attractive of the town's medical men.

She shivered again, and this time she said, "I am cold. I'm going to get dressed."

Moments later, with scarcely a splash to mark the place of her immersion, Nance was swimming upward through cool, caressing darkness.

She surfaced, gulped air gratefully, and looked around. The raft was abandoned. Jeremy, accommodating his masterly crawl obligingly to Eve's choppy side stroke, was heading for the shore, too. Nance plunged her face into the water and left a churn of white water in her wake.

At home, garaging the car, Jeremy asked, "Like her?"

"No." The negative was unequivocal. Perhaps unfair. But she couldn't at the moment modify it.

"Why not?"

"Oh, call it intuition. Don't ask me why. I just don't, that's all."

She spoke crossly, and Jeremy stared at her a moment, and then shrugged.

Oh, what is the matter with me? she asked herself sharply as she went upstairs. After all my fine talk, I'm certainly not jealous! I'm tired. I've worked too hard all week. Mother is right. I'll be a jangle of nerves for the wedding.

As she undressed, she kept seeing Jeremy's hands on Eve's handsome white shoulders.

However, the Generalissimo has been visited and honored by many members of Congress, by highest military representatives and by our diplomats. The Pentagon experts are only too anxious to include Spain within our anti-Russian force, and Secretary Acheson has reluctantly accepted their viewpoint.

Negotiations for air bases on the peninsula have recently dragged supposedly because of Franco's heavy demands. But it is generally believed the Administration hopes to delay an agreement until after November 4 lest it alienate liberal votes in this country.

INCIDENT—Thanks to C. H. S. of White Plains, N. Y., and J. M. L. Jr. of Fairfield, Conn., for reminding me of an incident in the 1912 presidential campaign which I had forgotten. Explaining that the national committees nominate substitute candidates if either the presidential or vice-presidential nominee dies after the convention, I said that it had never happened in our history.

In 1912 the Republicans renominated Vice President James S. Sherman of New York as Taft's runningmate. Sherman died on Oct. 12, and the late Nicholas Murray Butler of New York was substituted.

TELEPHONE'S COST ON DIFFERENT BASIS THAN

- GAS
- WATER
- ELECTRICITY

The size of your bill for gas, electricity, or water depends on how much you use of each. It's different with the telephone. You pay a small charge each month for UNLIMITED local use of the service.

Over the years, both the average number of times you use it, and the length of the use, have increased. This increased usage is based upon the fact that many more subscribers have steadily been added, and the telephone has become more of a necessity in the efficient operation of your home, as well as in the business affairs of your community.

And during all that time of increasing usage of the telephone, your cost has not increased proportionately in comparison with other things you buy. That is why we say —

The Value of the Telephone Is Greater Than The Cost!

Tiger Gridders Post 32-6 Victory Over Holy Rosary In 1952 Opener

"Maybe we've got something here this year. Maybe we have." That was the reaction of many fans here Friday night when Circleville's 1952 Tiger football team handed invading Columbus Holy Rosary gridders a 32-6 walloping. And if the Tigers continue to show the eagerness and enthusiasm they displayed in trouncing the Rosary Crusaders Friday night, local fans will be more than satisfied with this season.

Circleville's young Tigers distinguished themselves in wringing revenge from the Rosary club — revenge for a 6-0 defeat in last year's season opener, the first time in more than 11 years for the CHS'ers to drop an opening contest.

Running was excellent; blocking was good; passing was above par; and punting, when they needed it, was not too bad.

BUT MOST of all, this year's Red and Black crew demonstrated its ability in the brain department, employing the plans of Coaches Steve Brudzinski and Tom Bennett to a "T".

Circleville tallied its first touchdown of the game just seven plays and 2:35 minutes after the opening kickoff. Its second score was only 10 plays and less than four minutes later.

Personal scoring for Circleville in the opening contest was accomplished by Tom Elsea, who crossed the line twice; Fred Davis, Don Skinner and Freshman Jay Terry.

The Tigers got off to a flying start with the kickoff, which Fred "Speeder" Davis tucked under his wing on the 12 and ripped up to the 32.

On the first play, Davis erupted through right tackle for 22 yards to the 44 and a first down. Tom Elsea gained a single yard through left tackle, with "Speeder" following with an 11-yard sprint for another first down.

Fullback Tom Strawser, on his one carrying assignment in the test, gained three yards next on a trip through left guard and "Speeder" took a pitchout around left end for 13 yards and another first down on Rosary's 16.

Davis lost a yard next, but set up the play for Elsea, who took a pitchout from Quarterback John Wilkes and bulled his way over .ne goal line from the 17. A placement by "Speeder" gave the CHS'ers a 7-0 edge.

Rosary took over then, briefly, but gave the Tigers possession when they gambled on punting on the fourth down, fumbled and gave up possession on their own 21.

That score was nullified, however, with Circleville drawing a 15-yard penalty for holding, putting the ball on the 18.

Wilkes then uncorked a flat pass to End Don Skinner, who lateraled off to Elsea just as he was hit. Elsea did the rest, carrying for his second TD in the first seven minutes of play. "Speeder's" conversion attempt failed, giving Circleville a 13-0 edge.

Neither team was able to score in the second period of the game, when play was nearly even, although the Rosary team came within a whisker of making the grade.

Rosary's speedy John Noll pushed the ball down to the Tiger 4-yard line just as the first half ended, putting a halt to the drive which had started on Rosary's own 25.

On the play, Davis heaved a pass to Skinner for the 46-yard trip.

The play was almost perfectly executed. Skinner outmaneuvered the safety man and the ball hanging on a string when he reached up for it.

IN THE FINAL period, Rosary chalked up its lone TD when it drove to the four-yard-stripe in Tiger territory and fumbled. The Tigers fumbled right back again, and Rosary's Bill Fishbaugh skirted right end on the next play for the tally.

The Tigers were plagued with penalties during the final stanza of the game, but drove on to score twice more.

"Speeder" exploded through guard on one of the final TD's, taking the 17-yards to the goal line through a horde of would-be tacklers.

And Freshman End Curry finished his first varsity game by dragging in a 6-yard TD pass from Wilkes in the end zone with only 14 seconds of gametime remaining.

Longest single ground-gainer of the evening for the Tigers happened three plays earlier, when Wilkes uncorked a pass to "Speeder" which covered 60 yards with Davis dancing the sideline.

Fans attending the opener were not only given a full evening of scoring, but also witnessed one of the most mixed-up plays seen on the local field.

In the third period, Rosary was forced to punt from its own 40. Jim Kennedy, toe artist for the Crusaders, dropped back to boot, but the punt was blocked by a swarm of Tiger linemen.

The blocked punt fell into the hands of a lineman, credited to be Ted Davis, who began running for what seemed a sure touchdown.

However, the ball juggled out of his hands after a few steps and was recovered by Rosary, the ball having changed hands three times in about as many seconds.

Although Tiger linemen in the middle tore the Rosary forward wall to shreds on the offense, work was ragged around the ends and leading downfield.

George Troutman in the middle of the line set the Tigers up for their final TD when, after having smeared the Rosary quarterback two plays earlier for a 4-yard deficit, he reached out and stole the ball to give the Tigers possession on the Rosary 34.

Other outstanding blocking and tackling plays during the evening were made by Skinner, Robin Jones, Curry, Dave Bircher, Ted Davis and Jim Leist.

Barring the possibility Washington C. H. may have more power than usual this season, the Tigers should be favored to take their next game.

The Tigers will invade at Linden McKinley next Friday night. Linden fell to a 59-0 defeat at the hands of Washington's Blue Lions in its Friday opener.

Unusual for Circleville, nearly all local fans voiced approval at the smooth officiating during the evening by Don Hamilton Jr., Bob Whetstone and Dick Montgomery.

Lineups and statistics of Friday's season-opening Tiger victory follow:

Ashville, Walnut Collect Wins In County 6-Man Season Openers

Ashville Broncos and Walnut Tigers opened the brand new Pickaway County six-man football season Friday afternoon with victories.

Ashville posted a hard-fought 20-14 victory over Pickaway on the Pirate gridiron; and Walnut collected a comfortable 26-12 victory over Williamsport Deers on the Deers' battleground.

But more important than the outcome of the games was the illustration to county fans the sport of six-man football can be exciting and fast—very fast.

And local fans are expected to see the return of the old drop-kick, which fashioned the margin of difference in many battles in the past.

Leading specialist to date in that field in the county is Charles Hardin, son of Superintendent John Hardin, who booted a field goal and two extra points in his team's opener at Pickaway.

THE DROP kick and placement are worthwhile in six-man football, too. The field goal counts four points, while conversion placements or drop kicks count two each. Conversion by any other methods count only one point each.

Illustrating the fastness of the

Sudden Death Playoff Planned

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 — If the American League pennant race ends in a tie between the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians these two teams will meet in a single playoff game Sept. 29 in Cleveland.

The winner of that contest will be the league champion and will go into the World Series against the title-winning club of the National League.

The site of the playoff game—if one is necessary—was determined Friday in a coin-flipping ceremony in the Chicago office of Will Harbridge, president of the American League.

Irwin Game Due

Ashville Irwins baseball team will meet Columbus Ben Brews at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Ashville Community Park.

Tom Harmon, former Michigan All-American, will do the radio and television announcing of Detroit Lion football games this Fall.

LOU COSTELLO carefully examines Bud Abbott's ear in true Sherlock Holmes fashion in the comedy mystery "Who Done It," part of a double feature beginning Sunday in Cliftona theatre. Second feature stars Abbott and Costello, along with Dick Powell and the Andrews Sisters, in a sea adventure "In The Navy."

Sokolosky's These Days

John Foster Dulles pays too much attention to the refugee and European ex-Communist committee which are nourished by the hope that if they can succeed in involving the United States in a fighting war with Soviet Russia, they will be able to establish so-called "Democratic" governments for their countries.

An excellent device, if accomplishable, its failure would be a disaster for the United States.

The State Department, in recent months, has shown an interest in these liberation movements. This explains, in a large measure, but strong tendency among our policy makers to regard with favor the activities of various Socialist groups in Europe. But European Socialists generally are neutral.

The history of the Communist Revolution clearly establishes that European Socialists lack the capacity to withstand a direct Communist assault. Only the Catholic Center parties and the Conservatives have effectively withstood Communism.

The repetition by both candidates

19-Night Meeting At Lebanon Set

LEBANON, Sept. 13 — (P)—Night harness racing will return to Lebanon Saturday night with the opening of the 19-night fall meeting at the Lebanon Raceway.

There will be eight races each night, except Sunday, through Oct. 4.

More than 300 top flight trotters and pacers are on hand for the meeting and the leading drivers include Lou Huber Jr., Harry Miller, Bob Seabrook, Verne Youngblood and Charlie Snook.

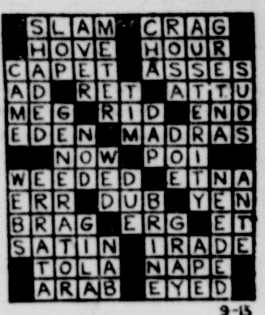

of pious hopes is not a discussion of an historical problem. Both sides would like to state their aims in such a manner that the so-called minorities will support them, but neither of them can really dodge the course of events which moves without paying the slightest attention to them or to their campaigns.

Poland, for instance, is now a province of Russia, headed by a Russian general of Polish origin, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky. Nothing short of the conquest of that country by armed force can liberate it.

A marginal revolution will be stamped out, like a brush fire on the edge of a meadow.

Ashville, Walnut Collect Wins In County 6-Man Season Openers

Ashville Broncos and Walnut Tigers opened the brand new Pickaway County six-man football season Friday afternoon with victories.

Ashville posted a hard-fought 20-14 victory over Pickaway on the Pirate gridiron; and Walnut collected a comfortable 26-12 victory over Williamsport Deers on the Deers' battleground.

But more important than the outcome of the games was the illustration to county fans the sport of six-man football can be exciting and fast—very fast.

And local fans are expected to see the return of the old drop-kick, which fashioned the margin of difference in many battles in the past.

Leading specialist to date in that field in the county is Charles Hardin, son of Superintendent John Hardin, who booted a field goal and two extra points in his team's opener at Pickaway.

THE DROP kick and placement are worthwhile in six-man football, too. The field goal counts four points, while conversion placements or drop kicks count two each. Conversion by any other methods count only one point each.

Sudden Death Playoff Planned

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 — If the American League pennant race ends in a tie between the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians these two teams will meet in a single playoff game Sept. 29 in Cleveland.

The winner of that contest will be the league champion and will go into the World Series against the title-winning club of the National League.

The site of the playoff game—if one is necessary—was determined Friday in a coin-flipping ceremony in the Chicago office of Will Harbridge, president of the American League.

Irwin Game Due

Ashville Irwins baseball team will meet Columbus Ben Beams at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Ashville Community Park.

Tom Harmon, former Michigan All-American, will do the radio and television announcing of Detroit Lion football games this fall.

sport—first downs are 15-yards apart instead of 10; and every play begins with a clear pass in the backfield. At one time, observers said, Ashville employed four laterals on one play in its test at Pickaway.

In the Ashville-Pickaway contest, Ashville opened scoring in the first period when Hardin booted a drop-kick from about the 15 for four points.

Pickaway took the lead later in the period, however, when Orville Gifford shot through tackle to tally. Conversion was incomplete, giving the Pirates a 6-4 margin.

Neither team scored in the second stanza, but Ashville's Jack Hutchison romped around end in the third quarter for a TD, stretched into eight points when Hardin converted.

Pickaway scored next, with Bill Evans tossing a TD pass to John Anderson. Evans converted for the full eight points. The score was set up by a 40-yard toss on the previous play.

Ashville bounced back, however, to post the final goal of the game when Ronnie Wilson skirted end and Hardin again converted.

A CROWD of about 400 fans were on hand for the encounter.

In the Walnut-Williamsport tiff, Walnut's Tigers opened with a seven-point score in the first stanza, added 12 points in the second quarter, and finished its winning drive in the fourth frame with another seven-point.

Williamsport scored its 12 points in the second quarter, blanked for the remainder of the game.

Scoring for Williamsport were Bob Metzger and Bob Picklesimer, who tallied on runs. Walnut's score was on two runs by Norman McPherson and two pass plays by Dick Smith. Extra points were run over by Ramon Bullock and McPherson.

Next county school six-man tests will be Friday afternoon, with Pickaway at Jackson and Williamsport at Ashville. The Ashville-Williamsport encounter is to begin at about 4:30 p. m.

Quarter scores of Friday's contests follow:

Foxy Flumere, Brandeis university assistant football coach, formerly coached three sports at Northeastern university.

LOU COSTELLO carefully examines Bud Abbott's ear in true Sherlock Holmes fashion in the comedy mystery "Who Done It," part of a double feature beginning Sunday in Cliftona theatre. Second feature stars Abbott and Costello, along with Dick Powell and the Andrews Sisters, in a sea adventure "In The Navy."

Sokolosky's These Days

John Foster Dulles pays too much attention to the refugee and European ex-Communist committee which are nourished by the hope that if they can succeed in involving the United States in a fighting war with Soviet Russia, they will be able to establish so-called "democratic" governments for their countries.

An excellent device, if accomplishable, its failure would be a disaster for the United States.

The State Department, in recent months, has shown an interest in these liberation movements. This explains, in a large measure, but strong tendency among our policy makers to regard with favor the activities of various Socialist groups in Europe. But European Socialists generally are neutral.

The history of the Communist Revolution clearly establishes that European Socialists lack the capacity to withstand a direct Communist assault. Only the Catholic Center parties and the Conservatives have effectively withstood Communism.

The repetition by both candidates

19-Night Meeting At Lebanon Set

LEBANON, Sept. 13 — (P)—Night harness racing will return to Lebanon Saturday night with the opening of the 19-night fall meeting at the Lebanon Raceway.

There will be eight races each night, except Sunday, through Oct. 4.

More than 300 top flight trotters and pacers are on hand for the meeting and the leading drivers include Lou Huber Jr., Harry Miller, Bob Seabrook, Verne Youngblood and Charlie Snook.

Poland, for instance, is now a province of Russia, headed by a Russian general of Polish origin, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky. No thing short of the conquest of that country by armed force can liberate it.

A marginal revolution will be stamped out, like a brush fire on the edge of a meadow.

Some Of Ohio's Finest Specimens Near Postoffice

John Jackson, sweeping the fallen leaves off a lawn near South Court and Union streets, paused in his work and smiled at a question for a while in silence.

"You're probably right," he said. "The day of the buckeye collectors—the boys who scrambled along the curbs and lawns every day to grab the biggest and best ones—seems to have gone with the years."

"I guess maybe the kids nowadays have other things to think about—things they figure are more important."

"Sure, I remember when the king of the neighborhood was the boy who could gather the biggest capful, or go around displaying a glass jar full of rich, brown buckeyes. I don't know why, but somehow the kids can't be bothered with such ideas now."

AND AS HE went on with his work, buckeyes rolled and clustered among the leaves—unwanted and dusty symbols of a golden era apparently gone forever.

Maybe, Jackson agreed, it's partly because the city's crop of buckeyes is dwindling each year. And not many persons seem to care.

Some tree experts have even insisted the flower of the buckeye really isn't a pretty one, and buckeyes scattered on a lawn or sidewalk can be a hazard underfoot!

At any rate, Ohio's once-treasured emblems are now being taken for granted in Circleville and probably the rest of the state as well.

With official Autumn due Sept. 22, some of the city's older residents have drawn attention to this fact—and also to a tendency to take many of the city's finest trees as just so much decoration and nothing more.

As far as buckeyes are concerned, some of the best of the surviving trees can be found in front of the postoffice and along South Court between Mound and Union streets.

MUCH OF the same vicinity is also shaded by trees of far higher

Variety Show Planned Here Sept. 24, 25

A special variety show employing local talent is to be held Sept. 24 and 25 in Circleville high school auditorium, sponsored by the Circleville Junior Women's Club.

The show, entitled "Shooting Stars," will be directed by Mr. J. Russell, who has arrived to recruit a cast for the production.

Proceeds from the special variety show is to be used by the Junior Women's Club in purchase of equipment for Berger hospital.

Mrs. Russell comes to Circleville highly recommended. She was a graduate of Bowling Green college in dramatics and has taken part in little theatre and radio work.

The director has been meeting with Mrs. Roger May, Mrs. M. E. Patterson, Mrs. Steve Brudzinski and Mrs. Ray Friend in arranging for the production here. Rehearsals are to begin at once.

distinction than the Aesculus Ohioensis—as the professors call the buckeye.

Paul Von Hohen Schleyer of Washington, D. C., a former Circleville resident and current visitor at the home of Laura and Emma Mader on East Franklin street, recalled how many of these finer trees near the postoffice were planted by his father, G. A. Schleyer, in 1912-13.

The last of four English walnuts can still be seen behind the postoffice near the loading platform. The four had been planted between the Schleyer residence and Pickaway House on the present post-office site.

A stately Catalpa Empress tree, rare north of the Ohio river, grew until recently near the same spot.

Planted also—and some of them still to be found there—were Russian olive, Varnish and Coffeebean trees. And one of the most distinguished of all, a Ginkgo tree—the oldest type of which any geological specimen has ever been found.

Last of the city's buckeye trees may no longer attract the grade school boys in the late Fall afternoons, but at least the leaves and seed of "Ohio's own" can have a measure of consolation around Court, Mound and Union streets.

They can rest this Autumn in pedigreed company.

Dieting Aids In Reducing Bald Spot

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—What do you do with your old New Year's resolutions?

For years I used to write mine down the first of each January—and manage conveniently to lose them by the first of February. The natural result was: out of sight, out of mind.

This spring, however, while cleaning out my desk drawers I found a wrinkled, yellowing sheet of paper. It was my New Year's resolutions for 1940, and the last paragraph read:

"I promise to get my weight down to 170 pounds, and be more obedient to my wife."

Frances, reading over my shoulder, said comfortingly:

"Well, Rover, you and Joe Stalin certainly keep your promises, don't you?"

I weighed on a drug store scale that day and got back a card that said "206." Allowing about six pounds for clothes, I was overplump 30 pounds than my target of 12 years ago.

Well, I decided right then to do something about it. And as the sports writers say—the rest is history. A stringent diet of things like poached eggs, ground beef, and salads made of several varieties of wide-bladed grass has put me right back to where I wanted to be in 1940.

The same drugstore scales today told me I had hit the 170-pound level and added: "You have a judicious mind." I admire that little old weighing machine. Sometimes it is pounds foolish, but it is always penny-wise. It never says an unkind thing to anybody. One day I put a cent into it and it failed to work. I shook it angrily and slapped it in its glass face, and out tumbled a card that said:

"You always keep your emotions under control and get full value for every cent you spend."

How do you like that for a machine turning its other cheek? Why can't we all be as kind as weighing machines?

Many fatties wonder what life would be like if they shed their excess blubber. Here are a few results in my case:

1. People used to be able to follow me around the office by the trail of buttons that popped off my vest. Today I have to take two long steps before my slacked coat begins to move.

2. My wife formerly upbraided me: "Every husband on this floor carries out the garbage to the incinerator but you." And I replied, "I'm too tired. Take it out yourself—it's yours. I don't leave anything on my plate." Now I don't mind carrying out the garbage at all. There isn't much anyway, as Frances went on a diet, too.

3. I used to huff and puff climbing the steps of a bus. But the other night I lasted halfway through a waltz.

4. I used to waddle when I walked like a ship in a rising sea. Now I slither along like a lean tiger—if you don't count its two front feet.

5. Chairs feel harder. With your padding gone, you can't sit still so long. So you get up and get your work done quicker.

6. A piece of buttered bread, a blob of mashed potatoes, are as beautiful as a sunset. When I sneak a dish of ice cream now, I feel more devilish than I did in college when I kept a sorority girl out after midnight.

But the best thing about dieting is it helps baldness. When you lose weight you shrink all over, including your scalp. Thus your bald spot looks smaller. Nobody else may notice it, but you do.

My ambition now is to drop from 170 pounds to about 150 pounds. I figure at that weight my scalp will have shunk so much I'll look like I'm wearing a coonskin cap. That's my real goal.

Cake that is several days old is good sliced, brushed with melted butter or margarine, and toasted lightly under the broiler. Serve the toasted cake slices with a fruit sauce.

License Tag News Hunch Proves Flop

Snooping newspapermen who are new in the community and don't know the full names of the local residents can get themselves in the silliest fixes.

For example, when a Cadillac parked in front of the home of Councilman George Crites Friday had license tags with only the letters "AEC"—and the Atomic Energy Commission was riding high in the news with plans for the Pike County project—it was easy to put two and two together and get six.

In a hurried phone call to the councilman the query went:

"That car with the Atomic Energy Commission plates in front of your house—is there something going on that we ought to know about? Is somebody from the AEC in town?"

The councilman's burst of laughter brought everything to a sudden

City, County Give August Reports

The city board of health reported 37 births and 15 deaths for August. Twenty of the births were male. Eleven of the deaths were of persons older than 60.

Also for August, Pickaway County health department reported four births and 13 deaths.

Three of the births on the county's list were male. Six of the total deaths were reported from Orient State Hospital.

Nine of the county deaths were of persons older than 60.

Correction Made In Taft Quotation

Friday's editions of this newspaper carried a release from the Associated Press which said that halt, but he was finally able to gasp:

"That AEC on the license plates isn't for Atomic Energy Commission—they're my wife's initials!"

LUTHER BOWER

Managing Circleville's oldest and one of the largest independent food stores, is a job that Mr. Luther Bower enjoys. The store is owned and was established by Mr. Clarence Wolf, back in 1916 and is named Clarence W. Wolf Market. It is operated on the theory that people still appreciate friendly, courteous treatment and individual, personal service. Mr. Bower is a native of Ross County, Ohio and has lived here since 1916, the year the store was started. He received his education in Circleville schools and is married to the former Miss Martha Mary Wolf, daughter of the founder of the business. They have one daughter, Nancy, a graduate of Circleville high school. The family attends the Lutheran church and Mr. Bower is an Elk, a Kiwanian (past president) and a member of the country club. His favorite sport is golf. In civic affairs he was president of the City Council in 1948 and 1949 and has also served as a member of the Civil Service Commission.

Clarence W. Wolf Market carries a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh meats, cut the way you want them, fresh fruits and vegetables, Bird's Eye frozen foods and all the best packaged and canned goods including the famous Premier, Winorr's and Esmeralda canned goods. The store is open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. five days a week and from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Saturdays. The address is convenient to all, 126 W. Main, and the telephone is 255. Deliveries are made with the prompt, personal service and accurate check out shopping is a pleasure at Clarence W. Wolf Market.

Mrs. Russell comes to Circleville highly recommended. She was a graduate of Bowling Green college in dramatics and has taken part in little theatre and radio work.

The director has been meeting with Mrs. Roger May, Mrs. M. E. Patterson, Mrs. Steve Brudzinski and Mrs. Ray Friend in arranging for the production here. Rehearsals are to begin at once.

Dieting Aids In Reducing Bald Spot

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—What do you do with your old New Year's resolutions?

For years I used to write mine down the first of each January—and manage conveniently to lose them by the first of February. The natural result was: out of sight, out of mind.

This spring, however, while cleaning out my desk drawers I found a wrinkled, yellowing sheet of paper. It was my New Year's resolutions for 1940, and the last paragraph read:

"I promise to get my weight down to 170 pounds, and be more obedient to my wife."

Frances, reading over my shoulder, said comfortingly:

"Well, Rover, you and Joe Stal in certainly keep your promises, don't you?"

I weighed on a drug store scale that day and got back a card that said "206." Allowing about six pounds for clothes, I was overplump 30 pounds than my target of 12 years ago.

Well, I decided right then to do something about it. And as the sports writers say—the rest is history. A stringent diet of things like poached eggs, ground beef, and salads made of several varieties of wide-bladed grass has put me right back to where I wanted to be in 1940.

The same drugstore scales today told me I had hit the 170-pound level and added: "You have a judicial mind." I admire that little old weighing machine. Sometimes it is pounds foolish, but it is always penny-wise. It never says an unkind thing to anybody. One day I put a cent into it and it failed to work. I shook it angrily and slapped it in its glass face, and out tumbled a card that said:

"You always keep your emotions under control and get full value for every cent you spend."

How do you like that for a machine turning its other cheek? Why can't we all be as kind as weighing machines?

Many fatties wonder what life would be like if they shed their excess blubber. Here are a few results in my case:

1. People used to be able to follow me around the office by the trail of buttons that popped off my vest. Today I have to take two long steps before my slackened coat begins to move.

2. My wife formerly upbraided me: "Every husband on this floor carries out the garbage to the incinerator but you." And I replied, "I'm too tired. Take it out yourself—it's yours. I don't leave anything on my plate." Now I don't mind carrying out the garbage at all. There isn't much anyway, as Frances went on a diet, too.

3. I used to huff and puff climbing the steps of a bus. But the other night I lasted halfway through a waltz.

4. I used to waddle when I walked like a ship in a rising sea. Now I slither along like a lean tiger—if you don't count its two front feet.

5. Chairs feel harder. With your padding gone, you can't sit still so long. So you get up and get your work done quicker.

6. A piece of buttered bread, a blob of mashed potatoes, are as beautiful as a sunset. When I sneak a dish of ice cream now, I feel more devilish than I did in college when I kept a sorority girl out after midnight.

But the best thing about dieting is it helps baldness. When you lose weight you shrink all over, including your scalp. Thus your bald spot looks smaller. Nobody else may notice it, but you do.

My ambition now is to drop from 170 pounds to about 150 pounds. I figure at that weight my scalp will have shunk so much I'll look like I'm wearing a coonskin cap. That's my real goal.

License Tag News Hunch Proves Flop

Snooping newspapermen who are new in the community and don't know the full names of the local residents can get themselves in the silliest fixes.

For example, when a Cadillac parked in front of the home of Councilman George Crites Friday had license tags with only the letters "AEC"—and the Atomic Energy Commission was riding high in the news with plans for the Pike County project—it was easy to put two and two together and get six.

In a hurried phone call to the councilman the query went:

"That car with the Atomic Energy Commission plates in front of your house—is there something going on that we ought to know about? Is somebody from the AEC in town?"

The councilman's burst of laughter brought everything to a sudden

City, County Give August Reports

The city board of health reported 37 births and 15 deaths for August. Twenty of the births were male. Eleven of the deaths were of persons older than 60.

Also for August, Pickaway County health department reported four births and 13 deaths.

Three of the births on the county's list were male. Six of the total deaths were reported from Orient State Hospital.

Nine of the county deaths were of persons older than 60.

Correction Made In Taft Quotation

Friday's editions of this newspaper carried a release from the Associated Press which said that Sen. Robert A. Taft had bluntly called Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, a "leftwinger." AP quoted the senator as saying that Stevenson is "a representative of the leftwing and a leftwinger himself."

What Senator Taft actually said was: "... Stevenson, a representative of the leftwing if not a leftwinger himself."

This correction is made in fairness to both Senator Taft and Governor Stevenson as well as to keep the record straight.

Seed Wheat Cleaning and Treating

If you will bring your seed wheat in now, you will avoid the rush later on.

Our liquid treatment of CERESAN M. is a disinfectant for seed wheat that controls SMUT, Scab and seedling blight of wheat. By reducing losses from these diseases and from seed decay, CERESAN M also helps to increase yields.

We have a limited amount of Baldwin seed wheat in two bu. bags at $2.90 per bu.

LUTHER BOWER
Managing Circleville's oldest and one of the largest independent food stores, is a job that Mr. Luther Bower enjoys. The store is owned and was established by Mr. Clarence Wolf, back in 1916 and is named Clarence W. Wolf Market. It is operated on the theory that people still appreciate friendly, courteous treatment and individual, personal service. Mr. Bower is a native of Ross County, Ohio and has lived here since 1916, the year the store was started. He received his education in Circleville schools and is married to the former Miss Martha Mary Wolf, daughter of the founder of the business. They have one daughter, Nancy, a graduate of Circleville high school. The family attends the Lutheran church and Mr. Bower is an Elk, a Kiwanian (past president) and a member of the country club. His favorite sport is golf. In civic affairs he was president of the City Council in 1948 and 1949 and has also served as a member of the Civil Service Commission.

Clarence W. Wolf Market carries a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh meats, cut the way you want them, fresh fruits and vegetables, Bird's Eye frozen foods and all the best packaged and canned goods including the famous Premier, Winor's and Esmeralda canned goods. The store is open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. five days a week and from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Saturdays. The address is convenient to all, 126 W. Main, and the telephone is 255. Deliveries are made with the prompt, personal service and accurate check out shopping is a pleasure at Clarence W. Wolf Market.
